Cambodia

Prince Slaps U.S.

PHNOM PENH (AP)—Prince Norodom Sihanouk, ruler of Cambodia, Tuesday severed all economic and military ties with the United States.

Sihanouk charged that U.S. aid was being used to undermine him.

He announced his decision in a fiery speech before an emergency session of his political party at a Phnom Penh stadium.

CHEERING CROWD

He told a wildly cheering crowd of Youth Corps members that American equipment had been used by rebel Cambodians operating from South Viet Nam.

The U.S. embassy said it had received no official text of the prince's denunciation, nor had the embassy been formally notified of any change in relations with Cambodia. It was expected such notification might come today.

TRAGIC IF TRUE

An American spokesman described the development as "tragic, if it is true."

U.S. aid to Cambodia averages about $30,000,000 a year, which is about the same figure as the national yearly deficit. Funds generated by the American commercial import program in Cambodia pay for about 40 per cent of the upkeep of the nation's small armed forces.

TO MAINTAIN TIES

Sihanouk said that while he would stop receiving any form of American assistance, he planned to maintain diplomatic ties with the United States.

There are currently about 300 Americans in official capacities in this nation of 6,000,000 inhabitants, including about 65 officers and men of the U.S. armed forces.

The cut would reduce the

And Valery Makes Three

KATMANDU, Nepal (Reuters)—Honeymooning Russian space couple Valentina Tereshkova and Major Andrian Nikolayev arrived here from Calcutta Tuesday for a two-day visit to Nepal. A third cosmonaut, Col. Valery Bykovsky, flew with them to this Himalayan land.

Heart Seizure Kills Puck-Chasing Mayor

TORONTO (CP)—Mayor Donald Summerville of Toronto died Tuesday night after suffering a heart attack while playing goal in an exhibition hockey game.

Mr. Summerville, 48, collapsed in the dressing room of George Bell Arena after skating from a pile-up in front of his net in the first few minutes of the game.

With Mr. Summerville when he collapsed were Alderman Mike Grayson and James Vipond, sports editor of the Globe and Mail.

"I'M ALL RIGHT"

"I'm all right . . . I'm all right," he told them, but he then pitched forward on his face.

The fire department was called and an inhalator was applied to the mayor. An ambulance arrived a few minutes later and took him, unconscious, to St. Joseph's Hospital, where he died shortly after.

FLOOD RELIEF AID

The hockey game pitted city council members against a press, radio and television team. It was to raise funds for the Toronto Italian flood relief fund.

Mr. Summerville, a former reserve goalie for Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League, arrived at the arena after attending a long meeting of the Metropolitan Toronto council.

About 1,200 spectators in the arena saw the mayor skate off the ice after the goalmouth pileup but did not realize he suffered the heart attack later. The game was completed.

Mr. Summerville was elected mayor of Toronto in December, 1962, ousting Nathan Phillips.

Didn't Have Authority

Strapping Teacher Fined

KAMLOOPS (CP)—North Kamloops school teacher charged with assaulting a student with the strap was found guilty and fined $25 by Magistrate D. M. MacDonald Monday.

The decision ends a trial which has spread out over almost a month. It ended Nov. 2 and was adjourned until Monday for the magistrate's decision.

Bryan Kirwan, a teacher at George Hilliard Elementary School, was charged with assault causing bodily harm after strapping 12-year-old Tommy Goodwin on the last day of school in June.

FATHER LAID CHARGE

The charges were laid by the boy's father, T. B. Goodwin of Brocklehurst. He said the boy's hands were black and blue following the strapping.

Magistrate MacDonald said the punishment was reasonable but that Kirwan had no authority to take the boy back to school after he had been dismissed and had gone home.

The Goodwin boy was strapped after letting the air out of Mr. Kirwan's tires after being dismissed from school June 27. He also smeared toothpaste on the car windshield.

Mr. Kirwan went to the boy's home to ask his parents permission to take Tommy back to school. Mr. and Mrs. Goodwin were not home but he told the boy tp come with him and clean up the mess.

STRAPPED 15 TIMES

After the boy cleaned the car, Mr. Kirwan strapped him 15 times—six on one hand and nine on the other—and sent him home.

DESERVED IT

"There is no question in my mind that this boy was certainly deserving punishment," Magistrate MacDonald said. ". . . and I am not satisfied beyond a reasonable doubt that the teacher did in fact use excessive force." But Mr. Kirwan had to have the authority to strap the boy, the magistrate said.

Judge Fined For Slapping

KASSON, Minn. (AP)—Juvenile court Judge L. A. Paulsrude got a sentence of a $50 fine or 10 days in jail Tuesday for slapping an 11-year-old girl who illegally set off firecrackers in the street.

Paulsrude told bystanders at the time of the incident he was punishing Jenny for breaking the law and was holding court in the street.

Hundreds Perish

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP)—The public health department said Tuesday about 500 persons have been killed since last Thursday by floods and landslides.

It said thousands were homeless and estimated damage in the millions of dollars.

10 British Counties Swamped

LONDON (AP)—Gale-driven rainstorms swamped 10 counties in England and Wales Tuesday, flooding thousands of acres of farmlands and blocking major highways.

Storms that ravaged the country during the last 48 hours moderated inland, but still battered coastal areas of Britain and parts of the European continent.

Worst hit were the southern counties of England, notably Sussex and Kent.

GENERAL ALARM

Authorities called a general alarm in west Sussex as rivers broke their banks, spilled across farmlands and flooded roads.

Storm tides smashed down sea walls along the Sussex coast. Bulldozers were brought in to rebuild the crumbling walls.

Gale winds buffeted shipping in the English Channel.

TERROR MOUNTS IN VENEZUELA

CARACAS (UPI)—The Pro-Castro Armed Forces of National Liberation launched a reign of terror in the streets of the Venezuelan capital city Tuesday and at least 19 persons were killed in a series of gun battles, bombings and fires.

Seventy persons were injured.

It was the worst day of bloodshed since the underground FALN began its campaign of anti-government terror two years ago.

The Caracas violence was designed to back up the FALN's call for a nationwide general strike and to disrupt elections scheduled for Dec. 1.

150 ARRESTED

Venezuelan national guardsmen arrested more than 150 members of the FALN and the strike appeal appeared to fall flat. Organized labor ignored it.

In a naked show of violence, the FALN used strongarm tactics in trying to bully workers into staying away from their jobs. Terrorists resorted to bullets, bombs and burnings but it was business as usual in most sections of the city.

VIOLENCE SPORADIC

Violence was sporadic and largely confined to the poorer sections of Caracas. Small shopkeepers in the slum areas received personal visits from terrorists Monday warning them their shops would be put to the torch if they opened Tuesday.

Police were placed on full alert and military patrols walked the streets. In the federal district alone, 7,300 police patrolled the city "which was marked out in 42 zones.

CRUDE PLAN

Authorities denounced the terrorist strike call as a crude Communist manoeuvre to block the Dec. 1 elections. Navy units originally scheduled to participate in joint exercises off the Colombian coast cancelled the operation and patrolled the Venezuelan coast to prevent any Castro aid reaching the terrorists.

The massive confederation of labor, which supports the government, ordered its members to ignore the strike call.

Paper Thrust Into Hands —Then Arrest

WASHINGTON (AP) — Professor Frederick C. Barghoorn of Yale University said Tuesday night he was seized by Soviet security men after an unidentified young man thrust a roll of papers into his hands in front of a Moscow hotel.

The professor, disclosing to reporters the details of his 16-day confinement by the Russians, declined to charge that he was deliberately "framed" on spy charges.

But his account given at the state department pointed in that direction.

MANY PROTESTS

The 52-year-old Barghoorn was finally freed Saturday after the U.S. government made many protests and President Kennedy publicly denied the professor was a spy.

Barghoorn talked with high state department officials for more than five hours before he met with reporters.

He gave this account of his sudden imprisonment after a month in the Soviet Union gathering material for a book:

NIGHT BEFORE

At about 7:25 p.m. on Oct. 31, the night before he planned to leave for Warsaw, Barghoorn was about to enter his hotel when "a youngish looking man" approached him.

The man was a stranger, as far as Barghoorn can recall.

Acquitted

Jury of 11 men and one woman last night acquitted former fashion model Mrs. Barbara Clow, 37, on a charge of stealing $228,000 from Billings Motors in Brockville, Ont., where she was accountant from 1958 to 1962. She testified she was the mistress of owner Murray Billings, who showered her with gifts.

BRITAIN TODAY

Housing Situation Sparks Discontent

By KEN MacTAGGART

(Third of a Series)

LONDON — There are 14,600,000 "homes" in Britain. They are occupied by 14,700,000 "households" because about 100,000 families are doubled up with others.

This is a big improvement over 12 years ago when census showed more than 1,000,000 doubled-up households.

Nearly half of the dwellings were built before the First World War. Half of these were built before 1875, and more than half of the rest before 1850.

More than 80 per cent of 7,000,000 old houses and flats are owned by landlords; about 975,000 are classified as slums, though trade union officials say the ratio ought to be much higher because lack of a bath, hot water or a flush toilet is not a criterion of a slum.

Discontent with affairs in Britain obviously flows from homes such as these.

Improved Areas

But even greater discontent appears to come from areas where better housing has been provided.

During the Attlee (Labor) regime of 1945-51, 979,869 new housing units were built. Most were "local authority," dwellings subsidized by the government and built under local council direction.

Since the Conservative government took office in 1951, another 3,256,290 units have been built, 1,930,204 of which are subsidized. This is an average of more than 300,000 new

Battery Troubles

Copter Crew Found Safe

TERRACE (CP) — A helicopter missing for three days near here was found Tuesday and after repairs continued to its destination at Alice Arm, 70 miles northwest of this community.

The Hiller 12E machine owned by Okanagan Helicopters Ltd. was forced down by battery trouble and was located by another company helicopter.

REPAIRS MADE

Repairs were made and the machine went on to its destination at the Kennco Explorations camp at Lime Creek.

Aboard the craft when it disappeared Saturday were Pilot Greg Walker, about 30, of Burnaby, and mechanic Al Knudson, 23, of Kelsey Bay.

A limited search was started Sunday when it was first learned the craft had not reached its destination.

COPTERS IN SEARCH

A full search started Tuesday and three Okanagan Helicopters searched the Nass River area.

Company officials said the pilot and mechanic would be picked up by seaplane and flown to Vancouver. The location where the helicopter went down is not yet known.

Terrace is 95 miles east of Prince Rupert.

Bureau Chooses 500 Neediest

Welfare agencies in Greater Victoria join forces in an important facet of The Daily Colonist 500 Christmas Fund.

Actual selection of the 500 most needy families to receive money from the fund is made by the Christmas Bureau.

* * *

All other welfare agencies submit names from their files, and the final selection is made from these lists.

Donations to the fund may be mailed to The Daily Colonist, 2631 Douglas, or left at Acousticon of Victoria, 740 Yates Street, between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. weekdays and 9 to noon Saturdays.

Donations can be brought to the editorial offices 9 to 5 Monday through Friday.

The fund was boosted yesterday by a cheque for $100.

The donor simply said: "I wish to remain anonymous, but please add this to the 500 Fund."

This is the spirit that Victorians have shown in the past, and it has brought many a smile to the faces of thousands of youngsters who otherwise would have had little to smile about at a happy time of year.

* * *

The fund does not ask that you contribute, but provides an opportunity to help the 500 neediest families in this area.

Every cent added gives more assurance of a glow of warmth in the hearts of 500 families.

* * *

Toys can hold the fund, too. Those attending the Victoria Kinsmen Christmas bingo, Dec. 3, who bring a toy to the arena, have a chance on a generous number of turkeys, and help swell the fund.

Toys will be auctioned at Maynard's annual toy auction later in December.

Discontent Remains

housing units every year since 1951.

Twenty new towns have been created in 16 years as dying industries were closed and new ones established—all by government subsidization. In these are 125,000 new houses or flats, 229 schools, 2,142 shops, 538 factories and 91,750 employed people.

One of the causes of social unrest is the housing situation. I went to Notting Hill on the outskirts of central London where there are vast areas of slums and new housing subdivisions almost side by side.

There I met Rev. Gordon Ainger young and keen minister of Notting Hill Methodist Church, an ancient structure on Lancaster Road.

Highest Ratio

His parish has one of the highest ratios of colored populations in England, mainly West Indians. And five years ago racial riots occurred; Mr. Ainger says relations are good now.

Because the colored people are "come latelies" to England, they are well down the lists for new housing as slums are cleared or new subdivisions are built.

So they are victims of Rachmanism, the word applied to gouging by landlords following the Profumo scandal, when a recent immigrant, Peter Rachman, was revealed as a millionaire from slum housing rents.

Sink, No Bath

For two rooms, no bath but a sink with one cold water tap, Mrs. Charles Fernandez and her husband pay $16.10 a week to house themselves and two children. But they dug up $150 first as a "key" fee.

Rent tribunals are supposed to probe complaints about such racketeering, but the tenants decline to complain because they won't find another place to live. Fernandez works for Westminster Corporation as a road-sweeper, and makes about $12 a week.

"There are thousands like them," said Mr. Ainger. But let me show you another side of the coin.

Recently he did a survey about the lives of young people in this same area. He taped conversations with boys and girls in their teens or early twenties.

More than half had taken vacations this year on the continent or went to Ireland. His survey covered both colored and white Notting Hill residents.

"These young people had spent about 100 pounds each for their holidays," said Mr. Ainger. "Lots of them have motorcars or scooters. Excepting the rent racketeering and gouging of parents with families, with the resulting terrible housing, there are few causes for complaint. Yet everyone complains. It almost seems a symptom without a cause.

Blight Areas

Part of the cause, he agreed, comes from Britain's blight areas. Changing industrial production has caused terrible black spots, such as Liverpool and Glasgow's Gorbals.

Unemployment is high and because much is made of it by politicians and newspapers, it becomes accepted as symptomatic of all Britain.

Yet Britain's unemployment, ever since 1945, has been proportionately much lower than Canada's, the U.S. and many other countries.

Get Early Treatment For Undulant Fever

By JOSEPH MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: What about undulant fever? —Mrs. T.M.

Undulant fever (known also as brucellosis and as Malta fever) is an infection from one of the brucella germs which occur principally in cattle, hogs and goats.

Rarely is it transmitted from person to person. The principal means is through unpasteurized milk.

From the standpoint of danger to life, it is not particularly serious, but it has a tendency to become chronic, in which case the mortality is about two per cent.

TREAT EARLY

The outlook for recovery is good if treatment is begun early, even though there isn't a specific cure. Aspirin (and sometimes a stronger medication) to relieve pains, drugs to ward off sleeplessness which is often a symptom of undulant fever, and general care to insure adequate rest and good diet are basic in treatment.

Prevention, however, is the best answer. Pasteurize all milk. If you handle animal carcasses, wear rubber gloves.

Dear Dr. Molner: I was only a week or two past my period and had a chest X-ray. I did not know at the time I was pregnant. I am wondering if this may be harmful to the baby. —F.M.

Probably not, since the X-ray was of your chest and not of the pelvic region. The exposure involved in a chest X-ray is very small. Therefore, don't worry.

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: What is the cause of bleeding from the rectum? I have had this condition for quite a while. I am very worried.—Mrs. P.B.

There are a number of causes: Piles, ulceration, fissures, cancer, diverticultitis and others.

It does no good just to worry. You must go to your doctor immediately and find out what is causing the trouble.

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: One of my best friends has tuberculosis and I am wondering whether he can spread the germ to me, or whether I am safe from it. —M.M.

Nobody is safe from a friend who has active TB. You should be examined regularly to make sure you have not acquired it.

Professor Speaks

The young man "carried what looked to be a roll of newspapers" or printed material and asked Barghoorn, "are you an American citizen?"

STEPPED BACK

"I was somewhat startled. I stepped back a bit and I said 'yes:'" Barghoorn related.

"This very brief conversation between this stranger and me took place . . . then he pushed toward me this roll of newspapers."

"Unwittingly, perhaps foolishly," Barghoorn said, he put the papers in his coat and "almost simultaneously a couple of men grabbed me and hustled me off in an automobile."

TAKEN TO PRISON

Barghoorn said he was taken first to the police station, then to Moscow's notorious Lubianka prison, where he was held until after his arrest had mushroomed to the proportions of a serious international incident.

The Soviets charged that the papers contained "military information" and that the young man who thrust the papers at him had been arrested, Barghoorn related. He said he never saw the young man again.

The professor said he did get a peek at the contents of the papers — "There were some things inside, they looked like photographs" — but he "didn't actually look at them" and did not know whether they contained military information.

"I never had any intelligence assignment of any kind in the Soviet Union . . . In fact I never had any military service," Barghoorn said in explaining that he did not have the expert knowledge needed to recognize at the time whether the papers pressed on him were of any military significance.

The Yale University political scientist said he did not sign any "confession" although he was questioned intensively in prison and held incommunicado.

His request to see the American ambassador was refused and he did not know he was going to be released until just before the Soviets suddenly freed him last Saturday.

Anti-American signs appeared throughout the city. "Go home, Yankee," they said. "Away with foreigners displeased with our beloved leader's policy." "Foreign aid is not necessary for the survival of Cambodia."

If Castro Dumped

U.S. Pledges Aid

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — President Kennedy has all but invited the Cuban people to overthrow Fidel Castro's Communist regime and promised prompt U.S. aid if they do.

Kennedy's encouragement of a Cuban coup was contained in a major foreign policy speech before the inter-American press association.

The president said it would be a happy day if the Castro government is ousted and offered to extend U.S. backing for any Latin American nation seeking aid to resist a Communist takeover attempt.

"The American states must be ready to come to the aid of any government requesting aid to prevent a takeover linked to the policies of foreign Communism rather than an internal desire for change," he said.

"My country is prepared to do this," Kennedy pledged.

Free Zone Asked

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—The UN Assembly's political committee Tuesday approved a resolution urging a nuclear-free zone in Latin America. The vote was 89-0, with Canada voting yes.

Cuba abstained, as did the Red bloc, because it wants the U.S. to leave its Guantanamo naval base first. This could doom the idea, since Latin-America backers want unanimous support.

The committee also overrode western objections and asked the 18-nation Geneva disarmament commission to consider calling an international conference to draft a treaty outlawing nuclear arms.

U.S. Far Superior

McNamara Insists

NEW YORK (AP)—Defence Secretary Robert McNamara believes the U.S. will be strategically superior to Russia for at least 10 years.

In a speech to the Economic Club here, believed to be the U.S. answer to recent Soviet harassments in Berlin and tough talk by Premier Khrushchev, he made these points:

FAR SUPERIOR

The U.S. strategic nuclear deterrent is far superior to that of the Soviet Union.

The U.S. has combat-ready, mobile conventional forces, with tactical nuclear weapons, at least the equal of any Russia and its allies could mobilize in Europe.

Western deterrents, he said, included 500 long-range ballistic missiles, with 1,700 planned by 1966; strategic bombers on air alert and 500 on ground alert; NATO forces of $5,000,000, with 2,200,000 in Europe; better tactical aircraft and airlift ability.

New Home Recipe Reducing Plan

It's simple how quickly one may lose pounds of unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this home recipe yourself. It's easy, no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drug store and ask for four ounces of Naran Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Take two tablespoons full a day as needed and follow the Naran Plan.

If your first purchase does not show you a simple easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't disappear from neck, chin, arms, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow this easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Worth Hearing

THE RECENT WORDS of Lord Kilbrandon, a Scottish High Court judge, will be of particular interest to a number of Canadians who still suffer a twinge of conscience over the treatment meted out to two members of the Royal Canadian Navy who were denied continuing their careers in the service because of a suspicion that they had Communist connections.

While the case of one of the individuals concerned still apparently remains in limbo, a thorough investigation found that the charges of Communist association held against the other ranker were unfounded and he was consequently offered full reinstatement in the navy. The offer, perhaps understandably, was rejected.

Though it is doubtful that Lord Kilbrandon had any knowledge of these two cases, his words are eminently applicable to them.

Speaking to a Scottish audience in Perthshire, he said he would very much distrust the efficacy of any presumption of innocence as a shield against the oppression of unjustifiable prosecution — though it was all too easy to take this line.

"It was," he said, "possible to forget the almost equally important consideration that a gross injustice had been done when an innocent man was acquitted.

"He leaves the court almost certainly suffering more or less mental damage, extensive financial lesion, and a permanently impaired reputation.

"Errors will, of course, happen, but do we take enough trouble to see that they don't happen?"

Though Lord Kilbrandon's plea was made in Scotland, it is to be hoped that it will be heard loud and clear in Canada.

All for One

IT IS SURPRISING that Oak Bay council should fail to endorse a city council resolution, subscribed to by Esquimalt and Saanich, urging the federal government to build submarines in Canada instead of buying them abroad.

The council may feel this action goes beyond its field of jurisdiction, but support of the resolution would reflect the concern of this area over the loss of the frigate shipbuilding program in which the Victoria district would have shared.

It is not likely that Defence Minister Hellyer will pay heed to the resolution, having already committed the country to the purchase of the three submarines in question, but it is vitally important that the government should be made aware of the official anxiety of this area about the employment situation expected to be seriously impaired by the frigate cancellation.

Unanimity on this matter is desirable, and Oak Bay must surely be equally concerned.

In the general picture of Greater Victoria the weal of the community as a whole is one, and Oak Bay's prosperity cannot fail also to be affected if tradesmen are forced out of work. This is one occasion that calls for the general support of all Greater Victoria agencies.

Wasted Effort

FEDERAL HEALTH MINISTER Judy LaMarsh says her department is considering setting aside funds for a national anti-smoking program. There is no indication of the magnitude and cost of such a campaign, but without doubting the genuine concern of the minister and the department for the health of Canada's people, and without questioning that smoking is harmful, one may still wonder if a governmental anti-cigarette drive would not be a waste of the taxpayers' money.

There can hardly be a smoker or a potential smoker in the whole country who has not by now been thoroughly exposed to the message that the use of tobacco, especially its immoderate use, is an invitation to lung cancer as well as some less-dreaded ailments. And as a result a considerable number will have quit smoking, and hopefully, many young people will have decided that the habit is not for them, and will not have begun.

But for all the scare, for all the acceptance of a link between cigarettes and malignant lung disease, has there been a significant decrease in smoking?

On the contrary, according to a Dominion Bureau of Statistics report quoted by The Canadian Press in September, during the first half of the year Canadians smoked more than twenty billion cigarettes, an increase of 4.6 per cent over the previous corresponding period. Cigar-smoking, regarded as safer, rose 7.5 per cent. Nor could the gain in population in a year explain more than perhaps a half of these increases.

If the smokers of this country have paid so little real heed to all the warnings they have already had, would a campaign sponsored by the government persuade them to change their ways? That seems unlikely. The health department could perhaps better eschew a general program and concentrate its efforts on convincing young people of school age that smoking isn't smart. That would be the most fruitful field, for the statistics plainly show that stopping is a thousandfold more difficult than not starting.

Wrong Words

MR. GORDON: I think, as the Prime Minister has just said, this is a Shakespeare piece but I cannot vouch for it. If I am allowed to read it then perhaps some honorable gentleman opposite might know the author. I think it is appropriate in the context in which I read it; because as I have just said I was rather disappointed that the Leader of the Opposition should make another of his political speeches at this stage in the deliberations of the bill. This is the verse:

> I went to him and "Sir," I said,
> "I really beg your pardon.
> But what is it you actually do
> With the molehills in your garden?"
>
> "I'm making mountains of 'em, child
> For lawyers and physicians
> For soldiers and committee-men
> Old maids and politicians."

Mr. Diefenbaker: You should have quoted "Man, small man, drest in a little brief authority."

Thinking Aloud

". . . of shoes, and ships, and sealing wax . . ."

By TOM TAYLOR

I AM wondering what they're going to call the "Roundabout" when the traffic chiefs are finished with it.

As you know if you've been near it of late this circular path of ancient vehicle dispute has been bisected and trisected so that one doesn't any longer recognize an old friend.

And since the circle has disappeared and with it the fountain that gave it an alternative name, there will have to be a new designation. Special corners deserve a cognomen of their own.

The city should offer a prize for a new name.

* * *

Perhaps, however, 'twould be better to see how the citizens at the wheel manage their perambulations once the electronic signals have been installed.

I fancy there will be a few names coined at the outset at least, although possibly not of the kind appropriate for tourist consumption.

Come to think of it maybe they should keep calling it the "Roundabout," thereby adding to the alleged puzzling habits of Victoria, to which of course I don't subscribe.

* * *

I can't say that filling the created islands with boulders does anything to enhance the aesthetic scene, however. These plots will be utterly plebeian and dull.

No doubt the idea is to save the cost of cutting grass, but in the general improvement of the downtown amenities this is decidedly a backward step.

However once the weeds find their way through a green sheen will perhaps make amends and thus please the eye.

Now if the boulders had been of different colors — green, blue, pink, white and mauve, et al—this would have given the tourists something to talk about when they got home.

* * *

Come the day when the Gorge-Hillside-Douglas-Government intersection gets its official baptism I suppose I'll learn to manipulate its devious byways with unconcern. One usually does about such things, happily.

But I confess the sight of that mock-up picture promotes some apprehension within me. So many lights and signals give me a fright. And all bunched within vision, too. I'll have to keep a strict eye on my own driveway, I judge that much.

At heart I am a poor technician, you see, and offhand it appears that a course of instruction in advance wouldn't come amiss. Even a college degree in science.

* * *

But if this remark dismays the civic traffic experts — not that I think it will — let me admit to having been born without much mechanical aptitude.

I'll have to follow the lights mechanically if I value my skin, but you know what I mean, I trust. I am better with pen and paper than with tools and gadgets.

There's a machine in our plant for instance that serves coffee, chocolate, tea, milk and sugar or none of these, et cetera—if you press the right button and switch on the correct light bulb, that is.

It took me a long time to master its peculiarities. For a while indeed I thought I'd have to major in engineering before I could get one little cup of tea.

* * *

And just the other day my typewriter went on the blink, as they say in the best circles. And at this moment I'm trying to register some sanity from a glossy, new, up-to-the minute machine.

It's got so many fancy dinkums — which I, a simple typist of primitive vintage, don't need — I'm almost afraid to press a key.

I was comfortable with my old friendly machine, you see, and it can't come back to me quick enough.

The old roundabout was a friend too, in a way, and I'll miss it. But only, I hope, until I become as expert as the planners obviously assume I will.

Long Day's Journey into Night

Negev 'Threat' to Arabs

Conflict over Jordan Water

By FRANCIS OFNER from Tel Aviv

THE chiefs of staff of seven Arab League countries will meet in Cairo on November 23 to discuss means of preventing the diversion of the Jordan river by the Israelis, which is due to be completed next year. How important water has always been here may be judged by the fact that it is mentioned more frequently in the Bible than any other natural resource.

To overcome the scarcity of water in Israel's southern half and to lessen it growing salinity in other parts, the Israelis are engaged on a $100 million enterprise which will divert part of the waters of the Sea of Galilee (actually a lake created by the flow of the Jordan river) to central Israel and, from there, to the Negev desert.

* * *

An Arab-Israel agreement was almost reached on this issue about a decade ago. President Eisenhower's special envoy, Mr. Eric Johnston, secured Israeli approval and that of the neighboring Arab states for the utilization of the Jordan whose waters now run to waste in the Dead Sea. According to Mr. Johnston, Syria was the chief opponent of the project since it would have benefitted Israel as well as the Arabs.

The prime minister, Mr. Salah el Bitar, reiterated Syrian opposition in September, when he said: "Syria will prevent the diversion with all means at her disposal . . ." She would do this "even if we are compelled to act alone . . . but Syria will never remain alone since the Iraqi army will help her . . ." Explaining his vehement opposition, Mr. Bitar said that the future of Israel depended on the development of the Negev which, in turn, was tied to the supply of water from the Jordan. Israel's development project could help double her population in the future which would present a permanent threat to the Arab states.

According to Israeli engineers, Israel is already using 70 per cent of her water potential.

* * *

Without additional sources from the north the salinity of the water may soon reach danger point and imperil the economy, particularly the citrus crops in the central and southern areas. Similarly, the scarcity of water in the Negev has compelled farmers to leave large areas unused, thus preventing many settlements from operating at a profit.

With the completion of the Jordan-Negev project, economists consider that Israel's farming output could be trebled, with exports of farm products raised to $300 million. Furthermore, Israelis believe that the continued immigration of Jews from countries where they feel endangered cannot continue without more water for farming and intensified industrialization.

Israel's population of 2,500,000 is expected to increase to three million by 1970 and to four million by 1980.

Experts here claim that even with the Jordan-Negev scheme water will still be a problem in the future. They are pressing for intensified research into distillation from sea water and other measures, including artificial rain which has so far proved unsuccessful.

"Though opposition to anything beneficial to Israel seems to be one of the few unifying factors in the otherwise divided Arab wrold, Arab countries have reacted differently to the Negev "threat."

* * *

King Hussein of Jordan, though viewing the diversion as an extremely grave matter "where we would not be able to sit idly by," expressed doubts regarding Iraq's capacity to help Syria. In a recent interview with the editor of the Cairo Al Ahram, Mr. Mohammed Haykal, the king pointed out that most of the Iraqi army was engaged in fighting the Kurdish rebels and that the transport of a major contingent would take precious time.

Mr. Haykal, often a spokesman for President Nasser, also used the interview to sum up Egypt's stand. Egypt alone, he stressed, has a population of 28 million (12 times more than Israel), her annual budget exceeds £E1,200 million, and her air force budget alone is more than that of Jordan's total budget including foreign aid received from Britain and the U.S.

Despite her strength, Mr. Haykal pointed out, Egypt was the only Arab country whose leader had declared publicly that he had no plan at present for the liberation of Palestine and that all she is engaged on now are preparations and more preparations.

President Nasser himself referred publicly to the Jordan diversion in a speech at Gaza, on the Israeli border, last year. He revealed that a committee had been charged with the task of diverting the headwaters of the Jordan originating in Syria and the Lebanon, from its flow to Israel to a new course through the Arab countries.

* * *

"If I take a decision," President Nasser said, "I have to be certain . . . that I can impose my will upon Israel and shall not involve my country in a catastrophe like that of 1948." He referred to the fact that Damascus (the Syrian capital) is only 60 kilometres from Israel and could speedily be overrun. "How then could the Syrian army fulfil its obligation?"

There is little reason to suppose that Nasser has changed his views since. As a soldier, he is unlikely to be disturbed by secondary issues such as the Jordan diversion or the Arab refugee question, and will concentrate on what he considers the chief aim: the elimination of the State of Israel.

It is considered unlikely that Nasser would be ready for such a move next year when Israel begins diverting the Galilee waters. Thus, Egyptian participation in a war — and consequently a general Arab-Israel war — is regarded as unlikely unless the balance of power shifts substantially in favor of Egypt.

The unlikelihood of general war, however, does not exclude the possibility of armed incidents, particularly with Syria. To many people the issue may be a complex of political, military and technological factors, but to the average Israeli, the issue is simple. Water is equated with life. With it you can live. Without it you cannot.

Tristan da Cunha

Not So Idyllic

By DR. ABRAHAM MARCUS from London

WITH the return last month of the inhabitants of Tristan da Cunha — evacuated to Britain after a volcanic eruption in October 1961—to their island in the South Atlantic, the detailed medical investigation carried out during their stay in this country has been published.

There has always been considerable medical interest in these people. What one had supposed to have been an idyllic existence far away from civilization had led to better health, it was thought, and a more natural way of living. Unfortunately for the idealists, the Medical Research Council's working party which studied the islanders found them in their own way to be just as prone to illness and disease as the rest of us.

All adults, 198, and all children 61, were examined. They looked young for their age, were thin but robust, and of rather less than average height. The children had less superficial fat than is usual in Britain. About one-third had decayed teeth, a condition dating from the days when the islanders began to receive sugar and jam from ships that called at Tristan.

The people are Caucasian in appearance, and bear a strong resemblance to one another. They are all descended from a handful of settlers.

* * *

The commonest illness on the island is asthma,—which the islanders, in their quaint dialect, call the "hasmere" or "thsick." It starts early in childhood and continues intermittently throughout life. It was not possible to discover an allergic basis for this condition; usually it was precipitated by the common cold to which the islanders were very susceptible.

Another common complaint was indigestion. About one-fifth of the islanders had this symptom, roughly the same proportion as in Britain. Many were infested with intestinal worms. Examination of the children was difficult, because histories of past illness and development were difficult to get. Birth weight appeared to have been well up to normal in most, though the proportion of premature babies was higher than in Britain. The Tristan parents were not obsessed by the progress of their children and took little note of when the usual "milestones" were reached. The age of puberty was later than in Britain—14 years in girls, over 18 years in boys.

The most striking difference was in the greater relative frequency of congenital defects, a finding to be expected from the high degree of inbreeding. Defects in the retina of the eye were found in 16 islanders. This is regarded as of grave significance, for if the islanders continue as an isolated inbred community, a high incidence of blindness must be expected in future generations. Another congenital condition was a form of deafness combined with a high, arched palate, altered shape of the ear, and mental dullness. The resulting disabilities in the islanders were not severe.

When the islanders first arrived in England they were a cheerful and happy group, free from anxiety. Soon they became unhappy and anxious, and found the pace of life in a strange environment too rapid for them. As far as possible their health was looked after, and they returned to Tristan a little better physically than when they came. But what emotional and mental influences their two years in Britain have produced, and how these new factors alter their pattern of health, remains to be seen.

Spy Texts

Grain Of Truth

By ROLAND HUTFORD from Helsinki

A STOCK tale among Finns is that Russian spies are sent to Finland for their final examination. If they are discovered, they are merely sent home and their worst reprimand comes not from their captors but from their teachers. There is, however, a grain of truth in it. When, as sometimes happens, the Finns do stumble across a spy, the matter is hushed up in order to avoid annoying their Eastern neighbors.

Such a case has come to light in Helsinki. A laconic piece in the newspaper announced that a Mr. Yrjo Aava, a former military librarian, had been sentenced on Oct. 7 to 18 months' imprisonment for espionage.

The trial was held in camera, with all proceedings secret, including Aava's arrest, in the early summer. The details have only now leaked out and the authorities refuse any further information apart from saying that the offence was "inconsiderable."

The fact that such secrecy can be imposed in a democratic country is disturbing to many people. Finland's peculiar position, however, allows a certain justification, for she cannot afford to annoy the Russians. The "security of the state," therefore, includes not only the apprehension of spies, but the avoidance of any attendant publicity. For adverse publicity, at least in Finland, is what irritates the Russians most of all.

* * *

Thus, in cases concerning state security, the courts may order all proceedings to be held in secret, even keeping their very occurrence from the public. This is entrenched in a special law which was invoked in the Aava case.

It is not clear how the news seeped out so soon, for in the past such trials have been kept secret for a considerable time, not only because of the law but also because of the newspapers' voluntary censorship.

They are well aware that the Russians comb their columns for "anti-Soviet propaganda" and often invest items with the most far-fetched interpretation. Anything considered "provocative" may result in a protest from the Russian embassy in Helsinki to the Finnish foreign ministry or, as is more usual, direct to the editor concerned.

The authorities' hands may have been forced by rumors circulating. The outspoken Helsinki daily Helsingin Sanomat carried an angry leader asking: "Can one really say that the rumors and accusations caused by secrecy are worse than honest publication?" It was left, in fact, to the Helsinki correspondent of a Swedish paper to say forthrightly that Russia was the country concerned.

The citizens of Helsinki thus had to wait for that news until the afternoon, when the Stockholm papers arrived, instead of learning about it in the morning from their own press.

Other rumors which persist in connection with the Aava case are that Russian diplomats in Helsinki have been declared persona non grata for complicity, and that Finnish army officers were also implicated. The Finnish foreign office has denied the first rumor, and the general staff the second. The latter say that "no officer has been tried for treason . . . since the spy case in Jyvaskyla in 1954," reminding the public of a past affair.

Russian spying in Finland is nevertheless considered by many Finns as a form of Ruritanian comedy. "After all," said a Finn, "if they want to know anything they need only make a phone call. But it seems the Russians can't accept anything unless it arrives by a circuitous route. It's a sort of kleptomania."

Needed for Efficiency

THE Daily Colonist has rendered a great service to Saanich by revealing the unsuitability of the present municipal hall for the present day needs of our fast developing municipality.

The unanimity of the Saanich council, the considerable funds on hand, with the guarantee of financial assistance from the federal government, and the obvious desirability of a new municipal hall will enable most Saanich taxpayers to agree that here is something we must have for the very best efficiency in the conduct of our municipal business.

Strategically placed, the site of the old municipal hall should be sold to some budding shopping complex, and the monies received could help to swell the funds available for our new hall.

Secretary,

Mr. Billy

"The Islander" article Nov. 10 by Bert Hudson was very enjoyable; some people would like to see an article now on Mr. Billy, "Emily Carr's Man Friday."

Two little "debunks" please regarding Billy Newcombe. One: He and his eminent father were consultant experts on northwest coast "native lore" as is acknowledged in the literature of Philip Drucker in his material on the Nootkan tribe. Emily Carr was, so to speak, a pupil getting hints and photos from "Man Friday."

Two: Emily Carr's "Man Friday" (also a lot of other persons' "Man Friday" as it turned out) was biologist at the Provincial Museum from 1928 until 1932 approximately and he told me that he had charge of the ethnological collection; then much smaller which now together with the magnificent Newcombe collection makes a marvellous northwest coast collection of historical, botanical and ethnological material all catalogued by the Newcombes, father and son.

Now it is for the writers to eulogize both father and son who emulated the navy in believing in doing and not talking.

Another vote of appreciation for the articles by Vivienne Chadwick, which we always enjoy. She outshone herself this year, I feel, with her Armistic Day elegy. A very powerful and moving piece of writing, in which the sincerity of the author is obvious.

I would like to add that the photographer responsible for the picture on the Armistice Day cover deserves credit also.

Delinquency Probe Starts Here

A new committee formed through the Greater Victoria Community Welfare Council to ease juvenile delinquency held its first meeting yesterday and Esquimalt Coun. D. H. Nelson, the chairman, said some recommendations will be made by March 31.

The group will recommend to various government levels any action it deems necessary. Other members are Ald. Lily Wilson, J. M. Anguish, A. H. Stott, Prof. W. A. Cooke, Dr. Roy Watson, Ian H. Stewart and Lundy Sanderson.

'Let's Look Where We're Going'

"We are at a point when we must have a searching look at where we are going, particularly on the national level," B.C. Conservative Leader, Davie Fulton said here last night.

He was speaking at Top Management Night at the Victoria chapter of the National Office Management Association in the Dominion Hotel.

"During the past two years the picture of the national government has semed somewhat disturbed," Mr. Fulton said.

"With minority governments there has been indecision about many things and uncertainty; about how strong our national government should be.

"Each province seems to have a goal and this shows a contrast between the 50s and the 60s," said Mr. Fulton. "This shows the 60s are the turn of the provinces to lead in development."

He suggested three important steps that could be taken before, during and after the next provincial-federal conference:

- Complete the task of forming common national goals.
- Undertake a new co-operation in federal-provincial revenue-sharing arrangements.
- Match fiscal planning by beginning a financial platform for Canada as a whole.

"If there is no co-operation in planning there will be a great scrambling for power and competition between provinces," he said. "The federal government will then be in the position of a sled driver with 10 snarling dogs."

Firing Heard

Aref Claims Iraq Control

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — President Abdel Salam Aref and his generals claimed complete control of Iraq Tuesday night after driving the Ba'athist Socialist cabinet from office. Direct reports, however, said scattered firing still echoed in Baghdad, the Iraqi capital.

Telephoned reports from Baghdad said the army was mopping up remnants of the once-powerful Ba'athist National Guard, which was making a last stand.

FIRING HEARD

One source in Baghdad said heavy firing could be heard but there was no air activity or armor rumbling through the streets as on Monday, when Aref seized power in Baghdad.

(The British foreign office in London said fairly heavy shooting occurred for about two hours Tuesday morning near the British Embassy in Baghdad and in other parts of the city.

MANY KILLED

(In Tehran, Iran, the newspaper Ettella Sevenir reported a large number of persons killed in street fighting between pro-Ba'athist National Guard troops and Aref forces.

(The paper quoted an eyewitness as saying more than 95 persons were killed Monday in a battle in the city's Algumhourie Square.)

ALL QUIET, BUT—

Baghdad radio reported that police stations throughout the country said all districts were quiet. It continued, however, to broadcast appeals to members of the National Guard to surrender with their arms.

Birthday No. 97

Getting helping hand to cut 97th birthday cake yesterday is Mrs. E. C. Williams, native of Newfoundland who has been staying in Mount St. Mary's Hospital for 13 years. Sister Superior Mary Olive assists. — (William A. Boucher).

Hepatitis Not Epidemic

A spokesman for the provincial health department said here Tuesday an outbreak of infectious hepatitis in Castlegar "can't really be considered an epidemic."

Two adults and two children have the disease while dozens of others are suspected of having it. Castlegar, between Nelson and Trail, has a population of about 1,700.

COLD WEATHER

The spokesman said "this is not unusual for a community where there is a lack of adequate sewage disposal system. The cold weather will act as a damper on the spread of the disease."

Dr. James McAnulty, Castlegar medical health officer, said the situation is serious and travellers will probably carry the disease to Nelson and other communities within a few days.

Sewage is spreading in the streets from overloaded septic tanks, said Dr. McAnulty. Residents have defeated two sewage disposal referendums and are to vote on a third Dec. 5.

$25,000 Daily Fine Faces Noisy Jets

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (UPI)— The town council of this suburban New York City community Tuesday passed an anti-noise ordinance that could cost airlines an estimated $25,000 a day in fines.

The council contends more than half of the 500 airplanes that fly over Hempstead each day, landing and taking off from New York City's two airports, make so much noise they disrupt church services, disturb students, prevent residents of this city of 800,000 from relaxing, and make many so nervous they cannot work, eat or sleep.

$100 FINE

The ordinance provides a $100 fine against any plane that flies overhead and makes more noise than that of a heavy truck travelling on a highway 50 feet away from the listener.

The Air Line Pilots Association warned the council that pilots would violate the ordinance because they could not endanger the lives of passengers by cutting back power to make their engines quieter.

The town's chief executive, presiding supervisor Palmer Farrington, indicated the ordinance would be used as a club to force the airlines to negotiate the problem. He wants the industry to launch a crash program to develop a jet engine that is less noisy.

Industry spokesmen say this is technically and economically impossible.

Mock Island Crisis Will Test Jubilee

An exercise designed to test the Vancouver Island Hospital Disaster Institute's program will thrust nearly 100 people with simulated cuts, fractures and other injuries upon the staff of Royal Jubilee Hospital Thursday night.

The "victims" will arrive at the hospital in police, private, naval, and Emergency Health Services ambulances for treatment.

23 HOSPITALS

Delegates to a series of lectures held in conjunction with the mock emergency will see the procedures put into practice.

The delegates number more than 50, and come from 23 Island hospitals and Powell River.

After opening remarks by Health Minister Eric Martin, the delegates will hear the lectures, to be delivered by representatives of the department of national health and welfare, Canadian Hospital Association, provincial fire marshal's office and provincial Emergency Health Services.

Defence Secrets Key To Automation Crisis

NEW YORK (UPI)—An automation industrialist told U.S. labor leaders Tuesday thousands of the unemployed could be put back to work if the defence department released some its "thousand" secrets no longer vital to national security.

John Snyder, chairman and president of U.S. Industries, Inc., and the only industrialist ever invited to address the AFL-CIO convention, said automation is putting 40,000 men out of work each week.

Snyder said the real solution was creation of new industries—based on leisure-time activities and on out-of-date secrets held by the defence department.

"I believe we have not yet applied ourselves with proper diligence to the matter of relating the industrial techniques and skills of our defence and aero-space efforts to the field of consumer products and services," Snyder said.

"I am convinced on the basis of what knowledge I have that we could study these enormous and largely secret industries and, without revealing any secrets, we could create very sizable new consumer industries out of what we would learn."

Barber Faces Arrest

A bench warrant was ordered in city magistrate's court yesterday for Mayfair barber Adolphe Principe when he failed to appear for plea on a charge of violating the Wednesday-closing barbershop bylaw.

His shop was open on Mayfair's opening day, a Wednesday. He was warned but the shop was open again a week later after closing Monday with the rest of Mayfair's stores.

It is expected the warrant will be served today.

Jatalin Hangodi was fined $25 in Colwood court for having a loaded rifle in his car.

Six Job Offers For Hawkins

Six "rather interesting" job offers have been made to William Hawkins, whose resignation as Victoria Visitors Bureau commissioner takes effect Nov. 30.

He said, however, that he does not want to consider his future career until after he has had a rest and holiday from his bureau job.

He said he plans a vacation in Mexico.

'Last' Park Opens Dec. 7

Pemberton Park at Gonzales and Richardson, probably the last large park to be opened in the city, will be opened officially by Mayor Wilson in ceremonies Dec. 7, officials say.

The 4.34-acre park, formerly Pemberton Woods in the Pemberton family farm, was promised to surrounding residents 15 years ago in return for their consent to subdivision of a nearby greenbelt.

Ice Capades Due Here

Victorians will have a chance to see Ice Capades due to a change in eastern plans of the touring ice show.

Performances in the Memorial Arena will be at 8:30 p.m. Dec. 19, 20 and 21 plus two matinees Dec. 21 at 1 p.m. and 3 p.m.

Oak Bay Contest Sure

Lawyer Ian Horne last night said he will not seek a seat on Oak Bay council this year. But electors are assured of a choice among candidates for the four council seats up for grabs Dec. 5.

Not counting Coun. William J. J. Wade, who says he will decide soon whether to run again, five candidates are in the race.

TERM EXPIRES

One is Coun. Walter Dodsworth whose term also expires. The other two council seats are being vacated by Councillors Allan Cox and J. D. Watts, who will run against each other to succeed Reeve George Murdoch, who is retiring.

Coun. Cox's term as a councillor is expiring, while Coun. Watt's still had a year to run.

One of the four candidates trying to enter council for the first time is seeking the unexpired year of Coun. Watt's term. Peter Lovric says he is a believer in sound business practices in municipal government.

The other three candidates all are critical of growing commercial development. They are Mrs. Frances Elford, school teacher Eric Miskovsky and lawyer Donald Cameron.

Mrs. Elford, Mr. Lovric and Mr. Miskovsky have already filed papers with municipal returning officer E. H. Hart.

Evil Returned for Good

A Victoria man who lent his car to a "friend" so the latter could look for a job in Sooke will think twice before doing it again.

Clifford Kavanaugh, 631 Pandora, was in hospital, Oct. 28, when a friend asked if he could borrow the car. It was found several days later abandoned at a service station in Sooke.

Missing were $500 worth of clothing and tools. Police are investigating.

New Park Train

VANCOUVER (CP) — A new $750,000 miniature railway is to be built in Stanley Park on a track three-quarters of a mile long. It will replace the present children's railway which runs for 200 yards near the children's zoo.

The Birds Opens Tonight

The Victoria University Players open their adaptation of the Aristophanes comedy The Birds at 8:30 tonight in the Gordon Head Theatre.

A mixture of fantasy, satire, wit, parody and farce, The Birds is directed by Dr. Carl Hare and has original music by Dr. C. L. Lambertson.

AT THE 19th

With Harry Young

It must be a matter of some satisfaction to A. V. Macan that two of the courses he has recently designed have been chosen as sites for forthcoming national and provincial events.

The Canadian Open of 1965 is slated for Shaughnessy and the B.C. Amateur of 1964 is to be played at Kelowna.

It is, of course, becoming increasingly difficult to find a new course in British Columbia which was not built by Macan.

In addition to Shaughnessy and Kelowna, Macan has been responsible in recent years for Richmond (site of this year's B.C. Amateur), and Nanaimo. In Washington he has also left his mark on numerous courses.

It might be said that B.C. golfers are not so troubled by automation—electric carts, etc.—as by "Macanization," for the crafty old Irish architect has brought up a new concept of golf course construction that is aimed at making the mechanical perfection of the modern golfing maestro more difficult.

One has only to play a few holes, or even to look at one or two greens on any course to tell whether it is Macanized. A Macan green is one that may be of any shape except round or square.

He specializes in an elegant assortment of irregular figures that would have driven Euclid crazy. Many are kidney-shaped with the length at 45 degrees to the fairway and with traps close in that make tee placement almost essential if the second shot to the green is going to be effective.

In addition, Macan insists that greens should not be flat, and most of them are built with logbacks or crowns that are liable to defy the backspin artist.

"I design some of my greens to suit the run-up type of shot" explains Macan. "This is one of the great shots in golf but very few of today's top players can execute it. That is why many of them criticize my work."

I was playing the other day at Shaughnessy with Terry Watt, the club's president, and as we admired a piece of Macan's work Terry would say. "This old man is a sadist, and this is one of his most machievellian concoctions."

Caddies at Shaughnessy will hand you a six or seven iron for the short chip to many of the greens. They will tell you it is the only way they know in which the ball can be made to stop near the pin.

Anyway when the top pros go to Shaughnessy in 1965, they can be expected to "blow their tops." If the RCGA wants Shaughnessy can be stretched to 7,000 yards or more, for the tees are huge, some of them over 40 yards in length.

"Shaughnessy has never yet been played at its full length," says Macan. "But when it is fully stretched out it will be an extremely hard course."

We would agree with him.

Two novelties are offered for this week's button match due to be played, weather permitting, at Royal Colwood.

For the first time in the fairly long history of these events the Ardmore Club will put in a team of challengers. Elected two years ago as members of the B.C. Golf Association, the Ardmore Club players now come under the official handicap system which makes them eligible for competitive events, and the two players who will represent the club Harold Jacobsen and Emil Beauchemin both come inside the 5 handicap limit required for the buttons.

I also believe, although I would not be certain on this, that Jacobsen and Beauchemin may provide the district buttons with another first. We cannot recall another pairing in these matches in which both players were left handers.

Jacobsen, who formerly played out of Royal Colwood, has taken part in numerous open events including the Canadian Amateur and the B.C. Amateur, and he is a strong if perhaps erratic player.

Beauchemin also has considerable experience, having for a number of years been associated with the Gorge Vale club. His forte is long hitting. He frequently hits the ball 300 yards and more, and on one occasion we saw him hitting a ball into the houses on Newport Drive from the 15th tee at Victoria Golf Club—a carry of probably 300 yards.

The two strong men from the Saanich Peninsula have no ordinary task for their opponents will be the extremely talented Gorge pairing of Bill Wakeham and Art Donaldson.

Last Sunday when the Gorge men took the buttons from Joe Evans and Ricky Kent of Royal Colwood at Victoria Golf Club by 5-4. Wakeham was round in a strict par of 69, and where he had one or two bogies, Art was there to save the day with regulation figures or better.

However this has been a remarkably good year for the portsiders in golf, and the performance of Jacobsen and Beauchemin will be watched with interest.

In the junior buttons, Earl Francis and Ricky Bath of Gorge are obviously going to be hard to dislodge. On Sunday they won 9-7 against Bob Bishop and Graham Sommer of Uplands at Victoria, and this week they are to oppose Jay Wilson and Jim Pomeroy of Victoria.

* * *

Gary Smith, who was medalist in the Canadian Junior championship last summer, is back in Victoria from Albuquerque, where he had enrolled as a student at the University of New Mexico.

The young Uplands player is back in harness and he will be partner to John Hadfield when it is the Uplands turn to play in the district buttons. The Uplands team is due to meet the winners of this week's match.

Hank Bauer Wins Baltimore Position

BALTIMORE (UPI)—Hank Bauer, fromer New York Yankee star who once piloted the Kansas City Athletics, Tuesday was named manager of the Baltimore Orioles.

Bauer, who succeeds Billy Hitchcock, was signed only for the 1964 season, but general manager Lee MacPhail said that "Hank has been my preference right along." No terms were announced.

Bauer served as third base coach of the Orioles last season under Hitchcock. He managed the A's in 1961 and 1962.

Bauer, who was an outfielder for the Yankees and A's for 13 years, became the Orioles' fifth and youngest manager, since Baltimore came into the American League in 1954. Bauer is 41.

MacPhail said that the departure of Luke Appling and the promotion of Bauer, Harry Brecheen would be the only Orioles' holdover coach. Brecheen is the pitching coach. Bauer said he expected to expand the Orioles' coaching staff from three to four men.

Snow and Cold For Key Clash

VANCOUVER (CP) — Arctic air blew across British Columbia Tuesday as Saskatchewan Roughriders headed to the coast for the second game of the Western Football Conference finals against B.C. Lions.

Weather predicters see a chance of snow but forecasts, however, appear to have little effect on preparations by the clubs for the game tonight.

Lions, in good health after their 19-7 victory in the opening game of the best-of-three final, made few changes in personnel or strategy for the game that could put them in the Grey Cup here Nov. 30.

Roughriders decided to leave behind two 1963 all-stars, defensive halfback Dale West and middle guard Ron Atchison. West, with a knee injury, had a uniform on Saturday but did not play, and Atchison, with a partial shoulder separation, played anyway.

Game will be broadcast on CKWX (1130) and CKNW (980) starting at 8 p.m. There is no local telecast.

Jack Gotta probably will see double duty at offensive end and defensive half, and Joe Lewis will move in for Atchison. Halfback Ed Buchanan is a doubtful starter with a gimpy knee.

STILL CONFIDENT

"We're certainly going to miss Atch," said Roughrider coach Bob Shaw Tuesday. "But I don't think we're out of this thing just yet."

The ruling factor in Dave Skrien's Lion lineup is to keep both Don Vicic and Gary Schwertfeger among the chosen 30 men. Vicic is a reserve inside linebacker and reserve fullback, Schwertfeger an inside linebacker and reserve centre.

SOGGY FIELD

The condition of the Empire Stadium field was another variable as the 8 p.m. PST game time approached. Heavy rain has prevented any lengthy drying-out period recently and the surface is extremely soft.

The tarpaulin has to be lifted periodically to give the turf air, but it usually gets wetter during the breather. The rain stopped with the approach of cool, windy weather Tuesday, and even a day and a half of this could help the field considerably.

Police Dogs, Radios Grey Cup Rehearsal

VANCOUVER (CP) — Operation Little Grey Cup will be launched tonight by Vancouver police.

The western final football game between B.C. Lions and Saskatchewan Roughriders will be a rehearsal for the department for the Nov. 30 Grey Cup game.

"Operation Little Grey Cup will involve as many police personnel as possible," deputy chief Gordon Ambrose said Tuesday. "We are asking members of the reserve force to come out so they can become familiar with Grey Cup procedures."

In their attempt a safe and sane night police are mainly concerned about the last five minutes of the game, he said.

Police wanted the game to finish without incident and the crowd handled quickly and competently with no slipups. There would be walkie-talkies at strategic points and dogs in the background in case of need.

CHARLOTTE WHITTON
. . . carries weight

Explanation Demanded

Riders Stung by Mayor's Tongue

OTTAWA (CP) — General manager Red O'Quinn of Ottawa Rough Riders said Tuesday night that Mayor Whitton should clarify her statement that the Riders "lay down for good reasons" when they lost 45-0 to Hamilton Tiger-Cats last Saturday in the opening game of the two-game, total-points-to-count Eastern Football Conference finals.

"The mayor is a good football fan and attended a lot of our games," O'Quinn said.

"As a fan, she's entitled to her opinion but when she speaks as the mayor of Ottawa, her words carry a lot of weight.

"I think she should clarify her statements and let the football club know exactly what she means. People can attach all sorts of unfortunate meanings to her words."

Mayor Whitton made her remark about Riders at a board sending an official Ottawa float sending an official Ottaw afloat for the Grey Cup parade in Vancouver Nov. 30.

SUGGESTS DESIGN

She then suggested her own design—a papier mache goose egg with the city's crest on either end.

That was "good enough for a team which lay down and lay down for good reasons last Saturday," the mayor said.

O'Quinn said he believed the mayor's reference was to an Ottawa team meeting last Thursday when players were told that the club wouldn't be taking their wives along to Vancouver if Ottawa got into the Grey Cup game.

Although the club hadn't made an official announcement, it had been the intention to bring along the players' wives for the game if Riders won the eastern championship.

"However, we were told by a league meeting last week that this constituted an incentive to the players and that there was a league rule against it," said O'Quinn.

"We were told that we would be fined $10,000 if we went through with our plans to bring the wives to the game as our guests."

"O'Quinn said the announcement "didn't affect the players one whit."

Angels Moving?

Los Angeles Angels are toying with the idea of moving their American League baseball franchise to nearby Long Beach when their commitment to play in Dodger Stadium ends with conclusion of the 1965 season.

"We were extremely encouraged by our survey of Long Beach," Angel business manager Ced Tallis reported after meeting Monday with Long Beach officials who first suggested the move. "Within 10 miles of Long Beach there are 1,000,000 people, and within 40 miles there are 4,000,000. It has great potential."

Steve Owen Giant Again

NEW YORK (AP) — Steve Owen, coach-of-the-year in the Canadian Football League last season, has rejoined the New York Giants of the National Football League.

Owen, who coached the Giants from 1931 to 1953, will work with Jim Lee Howell, another former coach who is director of player personnel.

Following his days with the Giants, he went to Toronto Argonauts of the Eastern Conference of the Canadian League and then to Saskatchewan Roughriders of the Western Conference where he won coach-of-the-year honors.

This year he coached Syracuse in the United Football League for part of the season.

Skating Trials On This Week

TORONTO (CP) — The country's top skaters from Ontario and British Columbia will compete in Maple Leaf Gardens later this week for one of 10 berths on Canada's Olympic figure skating team.

Barbara Ann Scott, world women's skating champion in 1948, will be on hand to present the winners' laurels at the conclusion of the Canadian Figure Skating Association Olympic trials Thursday and Friday.

Ontario is represented by 19 competitors and there are four from Vancouver.

Top three competitors in both the men's and women's senior singles, and the top two pairs will represent Canada in the 1964 winter Olympics at Innsbruck, Austria, Jan. 29-Feb. 9.

In the senior women's trials, Ontario will be represented by Petra Burka, Wendy Griner, Valerie Jones, Jean Sanders, Gloria Patton, all of Toronto, Marjorie Hare of Oakville and Jennifer Wilkin of Nipigon.

British Columbia will be represented by Shirra Kenworthy and Norma Seldar both of Vancouver.

Gregory Folk and Dr. Charles Snelling, both of Toronto, Donald Knight of Dundas, Ont., and William Neale of Niagara Falls, Ont., will compete in the senior men's competition.

B.C. PAIR

In the pairs competitions, Faye Strutt and James Watters of Vancouver will represent British Columbia.

Ontario will be represented in this phase of the trials by Paul and Susan Huehnergard and Alexis and Christopher Shields, all of Toronto, Linda Ward and Neil Carpenter of Galt and Debbi Wilks and Guy Revell of Unionville.

Mann Cup Planned for World's Fair

MONTREAL (CP) — Dick Brayley is going to try to do what the Iroquois Indians did 300 years ago—capture Montreal with lacrosse.

The Indians hid guns behind their lacrosse sticks, carried the ball into Fort Hochelaga, now known as Montreal, and got the drop on the settlers.

The game was pushed out of the sports picture 15 years ago by football, hockey and baseball. Now Brayley, a student of the sport for 30 years, plans to resurrect it.

"After the Second World War," he says, "sportsmen began to think big. They looked to put their sports on a professional basis. Lacrosse missed its cue and died.

"My plan now is to revive the game by staging an exhibition series between two teams from the Ontario Lacrosse League next summer in the east-end Paul Sauve Sports Centre.

"The long-range goal is to have the Mann Cup series in Montreal in 1967 at the world's fair."

Brayley saw the Mann Cup playoffs in Cornwall, Ont., this year and was impressed with the city's efforts to revive spectator interest in the sport. Cornwall hasn't a senior team of its own but agreed to play host to Vancouver Carlings and St. Catharines Athletics. Vancouver won the Canadian senior title four games to two.

"In the past, there was a provincial attitude toward the game. There was no interest in spreading it around the country. The opposite is true now. We're doing what we should have done 15 years ago."

Brayley says there is a possibility one or two games of the Mann Cup series may be played in Montreal or Quebec City next September.

"With today's transportation systems, travel doesn't present the problem it did years ago."

A junior lacrosse star in the 1930s, Brayley said he would like to see the Quebec Lacrosse Association revived and a junior league formed in Montreal.

"If we could start a league and enter a team in the Ontario circuit, we'd soon have the game back on its feet.

"Around 1945 we used to draw crowds of 7,000 in Quebec City. There's no reason why we can't do it again."

OUTDOORS

with Alec Merriman

You don't have to go to Alberta or the prairies to have a first-class duck shoot. You can have it right here on Vancouver Island, but you have to know the right places or the right people, or better still, both.

We had an excellent shoot Sunday at the invitation of a Saanich Peninsula farmer and five of us bagged a near limit of wild, fat mallards and could have carried right on shooting them if we had been greedy.

This was a jump-type stubble field shoot of a kind not usually engaged in on Vancouver Island.

But the farmer, through years of observation, has developed his own kind of shoot for his particular field.

The farmer, who must remain anonymous, is a conservationist at heart. He allows only three small shoots a year on his farm and although he figures many more than 1,000 ducks land there they take only 60 or 70 a year.

Partners for the day were Hank Dedish, Ron Sheffield, Bob Bouck, the farmer and the all important part Labrador part Gordon setter retriever dog.

* * *

We arrived at the farmer's house at 9:30 in the morning. This was to be a comfortable shoot . . . no getting up early for the morning flights or shivering until almost dark for the late flights. This was a shoot where the ducks would beam in on the decoys . . . not a passing shoot where we had to wait for the flights to fly over.

After a short tramp through the stubble field we came to a small puddle, about 40 feet long and 10 to 15 feet wide, with a willow bush growing out of the middle of it.

This was the spot we were to watch for the next four hours.

We set out about 15 or 20 mallard decoys on the pond and our host was most fussy about how we placed them. There were home-made wooden decoys and rubber ones and a couple without heads were placed in the willow branches.

Next came the positioning in the duck blinds just 20 to 30 yards from the pond. The blinds were already built for previous hunts and provided complete cover in the bushes that skirted the field close to the pond.

First man in the blind at the top end of the field was the shotmaker and had a better view of the ducks coming in to land. The rest of us kept well under cover in the blind with only peep holes to see through.

Size 7½ shot was the request of the farmer and that is what was used. Range for the shooting was 20 to 40 yards.

"We are after clean kills . . . no cripples . . . 40 yards is far enough . . . you might hit them at 50 or 60 yards but there are too many cripples and lost birds then," said the hunt master.

He likes the 7½ or number 6 shot because they have more penetration and are more effective on neck and head shots.

Trouble with duck shooting today is that hunters go in for the bigger number 4 and 2 shot and start firing away at too far a range, was his opinion. "It spoils it for other hunters because they shoot when the birds are too high and it results in many lost and crippled birds."

* * *

Even as we set out the decoys a big flock of mallards . . . about 20 of them . . . flew overhead. We hastened for our position in the blind and kept very quiet and very still.

Within five minutes we heard a whine of wings overhead, then they faded away, and then they returned as a regular flap flutter. We saw the ducks through the peep holes as they alighted.

Nobody moved.

Usual practice is to shoot as the ducks come in to land. We were on a team shoot and our plan was to jump them and shoot them after they took off. We were to shoot only at small flights, as to fire into a big flight of 20 or 30 would only scare off a large number of the ducks and spook them for future hunting.

The shotmaker at the top end of the blind was the jumper. He could see the birds land. When they settled he rose in his blind and his first movement set the spooky wild ducks in flight. Then we all jumped up and shot.

First flight in was three mallards, two drakes and a hen, and all were downed. We were new to this game and just watched the first shoot. Next flight we fired and missed, but after that we started shooting close to our share of ducks.

Next flight in was a big one of about 20 birds. It took plenty of will power, but we let it go as agreed. Next flight came in, almost landed and took off.

"Something's wrong. They must have seen one of us. Keep very still, well back and don't even whisper," said the farmer. He patched up a few thinly-bushed parts of the blind. Then he moved the decoys to the shore at the end of the pond.

Then another small flight came in and we had another shoot.

* * *

The retriever dog was essential. There would have been half a dozen lost birds if he hadn't been along to find them in the bush. As it was we didn't lose a bird. No cripples escaped.

When the sun came out bright the ducks became more spooky. Our farmer thought maybe the decoys were a little too shiny. A duck call brought some in.

But at 2 p.m., the time we had agreed to quit, the mallards were still flying overhead and as we pulled the decoys a widgeon tried several passes to beam in on the pond. But we were finished shooting and much to the disgust of the retriever dog he went free.

During the four hours about 200 mallards beamed in on the decoys and we got a dozen salvoes.

We haven't eaten our ducks yet, but the farmer assures us they are tasty-eating, grain-fed ducks. He has just returned from an Alberta shoot where they shot mostly pheasants. "My wife says don't bring back the Prairie ducks because these are better," he said.

Russian Press Raps Bulldogs' Rough Play

MOSCOW (Reuters) — The Communist youth newspaper Komsomolskaya Pravda Tuesday accused Windsor Bulldogs of "disgracing Canadian hockey" because of their rough play while bowing for the second time in a row to Russia's world champions.

The Russians defeated the Canadians 9-0 Sunday and 8-1 Monday night.

The world champions outshot the Canadians 44 to 10 Monday night. The game was rough by European standards and the Canadians spent a total of 25 minutes in the penalty box.

Tass news agency called right winger Jack Costello of Timmins, Ont., a "hooligan." He drew three penalties including a 10-minute misconduct. The Russians drew two minors.

Tuesday, the Soviet youth newspaper said:

"Regrettably the guests tried to 'strengthen' their weak game with open roughness, which had nothing in common with sport."

Russian spectators "did not expect to see the well - known Bulldogs like this, disgracing Canadian hockey with their hooligan - like actions on the field."

The trade union newspaper Trud said: "One must say that Canadians were often rough in yesterday's game. And once again Costello was the inspirer of the dirty play . . . ."

The Bulldogs last year in Windsor gave the Russians their biggest ever defeat—9-2.

Junior Rugby All One-Sided

Saturday was a day for trouncings in the junior rugby league with Cadets taking the short end of things in two games.

Oak Bay Wanderers embarrassed the Sea Cadets, 55-0, and Saanich blanked the Canadian Scottish Air Cadets, 23-0.

Things were closer in the mid-get league, JBAA and University School both scoring 6-3 victories —over Gordon Head Wanderers and Central Wanderers, respectively.

Home-Grown Duck Hunting

If this were in Alberta's fabulous duck hunting country it would be considered an excellent shoot, but it isn't. This near limit of mallards was bagged Sunday in a four-hour shoot on a Saanich Peninsula farm. Left to right, Hank Dedish, Ron Sheffield and Bob Bouck. See Outdoors.—(Alec Merriman)

International League Seeks Money Help

NEW YORK (AP) — The International League has requested financial aid from the major baseball leagues to continue to operate as a 10-team league.

Tommy Richardson, International League president, met with commissioner Ford Frick Monday but would not disclose the nature of the meeting.

It is understood, however, that Richardson received assurance from the commissioner that every consideration would be given to his request.

Last year, after the American Association was disbanded, both the International and Pacific Coast Leagues expanded from eight to 10 teams.

The International took on Little Rock and Indianapolis and the Pacific Coast added Oklahoma City, Denver and Dallas-Fort Worth, dropping Vancouver.

The additional cost of travel proved too much of a financial burden to the International which has 10 independent club owners.

The Pacific Coast League was in better position to withstand losses because five of its 10 teams are owned directly by major league clubs.

"My main concern," said Frick, "is to see to it that all 20 cities now represented in Class AAA remain in operation. Whether this can be done with two 10's or with one eight and one 12, and in what combination, is what we're working on."

The minor league meetings are scheduled to begin Dec. 3 in San Diego. The majors hold their annual meeting in Los Angeles a few days later.

Province, Council Cough Up $30,000

Olympians Delighted with Grants

VANCOUVER (CP)—Two financial windfalls awaited Canada's Olympic hockey team when it returned to its University of British Columbia home base Monday after a 10-day Prairie trip.

The elated coach, Rev. David Bauer, and the team learned that the National Fitness Council in Ottawa had recommended a $25,000 grant to the team and that the provincial government had added $5,000.

"That means we can buy the boys some beds," said an elated Father Bauer. "One couldn't be any more pleased than we are."

He said the grants mean the team will be able to purchase a dining table to replace a make-shift plywood sheet resting on two horses, desks for studying instead of apple boxes, and beds and mattresses to replace their uncomfortable sleeping contraptions.

The money also meant that accumulated debts from airlines, telephone companies and others could be eliminated and that notes personally underwritten by persons linked with the venture could be discharged.

The added provincial grant was promised in a letter from L. J. Wallace, acting for provincial secretary Wesley Black, and said half the gift was payable within 10 days, the rest at the start of the fiscal year.

However, the federal grant has a more far-reaching meaning.

It is the first time that the Fitness Council has recommended a grant to a Canadian hockey team travelling abroad.

Ken Farmer, chairman of the council, said it indicated council support for "a fully national venture by an amateur team."

The recommendation was unanimous by the council after it received a letter from the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association with a plea for a smaller sum to help the team with travelling expenses for its Canadian pre-Olympic tour.

The recommendation now goes to the treasury board—a group of cabinet ministers—and government approval is expected before the end of the week.

The strongly worded recommendation also called for close communication between the Olympic team and the council so that any future urgent requests for funds could be considered quickly.

The council, officially named the National Advisory Council on Fitness and Amateur Sport, comprises 30 members and has a budget this year of $2,000,000.

Stock Rally Poops Out Near Close

TORONTO (CP)—Base metals, Falconbridge in particular, were the only bright spots on an otherwise lacklustre day.

Falconbridge had the best gain, up ⅝ to 55. The stock moved quickly shortly before the close of trading after the company declared its usual extra dividend of 50 cents a share.

On the main board, banks displayed a weak undertone.

Biggest loss of the day went to International Minerals and Chemicals, off 2% to 66¾.

Silknit had the best gain, ahead three points to 40.

★ ★ ★

Falconbridge Rises

MONTREAL (CP) — The stock market dropped in the last half hour following an irregular performance.

Rockwell - Standard fell ⅞, Moore Corp. ½ and Dominion Textile ¼.

Senior base metals were stronger. Falconbridge climbed ⅝, Hudson Bay Mining ½ and Consolidated Mining ⅝.

★ ★ ★

Xerox in Decline

NEW YORK (AP) — After three consecutive days of decline, the stock market seemed embarked on a brisk rally but late weakness left the list no better than mixed by the close. Trading was moderate.

A 2-point gain by Public Service Electric and Gas followed news that this company plans a 2-for-1 stock split and raised dividend. It helped bolster the averages along with du Pont, up 3, Standard Oil (New Jersey), up 1 and General Motors, up 1⅝.

A continued sinking spell by Xerox, one of the great gainers of 1963, may have been a contributory factor in the decline. Xerox fell 20½ to 366—making its loss 31 points in this week's two sessions.

★ ★ ★

Rothman Higher

VANCOUVER—Mines and oils were mixed. Bethlehem at 6.25 and Western at 3.90 closed above their lows for the day, but Granduc receded to 4.15 after being 4.35.

Utica was active at .38 while Kootenay Base Metals shot ahead to .35. Peace River eased to .48 among oils.

Industrials were mixed with Rothman strong at 9⅞ and Aluminium lower at 26⅛.

★ ★ ★

Montreal Bonds

MONTREAL (CP)—The bond market was easier in dull trade. Long-term Canadas lost ⅛ of a point and short-terms five cents. Provincials and corporates were unchanged.

By Committee

Splitting Of Lots Opposed

Homeowners from the University Village housing development in the Shelbourne-Blair Avenue area voiced strong disapproval last night of a proposal for dual ownership duplexes in the area.

A three-man Saanich lands and planning committee, which heard both sides of the case last night, agreed with the homeowners and referred the matter back to council.

BEES DEFEAT

Reeve Stanley Murphy advised Robert Price, spokesman for Jupiter Estates Ltd., that an application for amendment of municipal bylaws to permit creation of 33-foot-wide lots for duplexes would be defeated if it was dealt with at committee level.

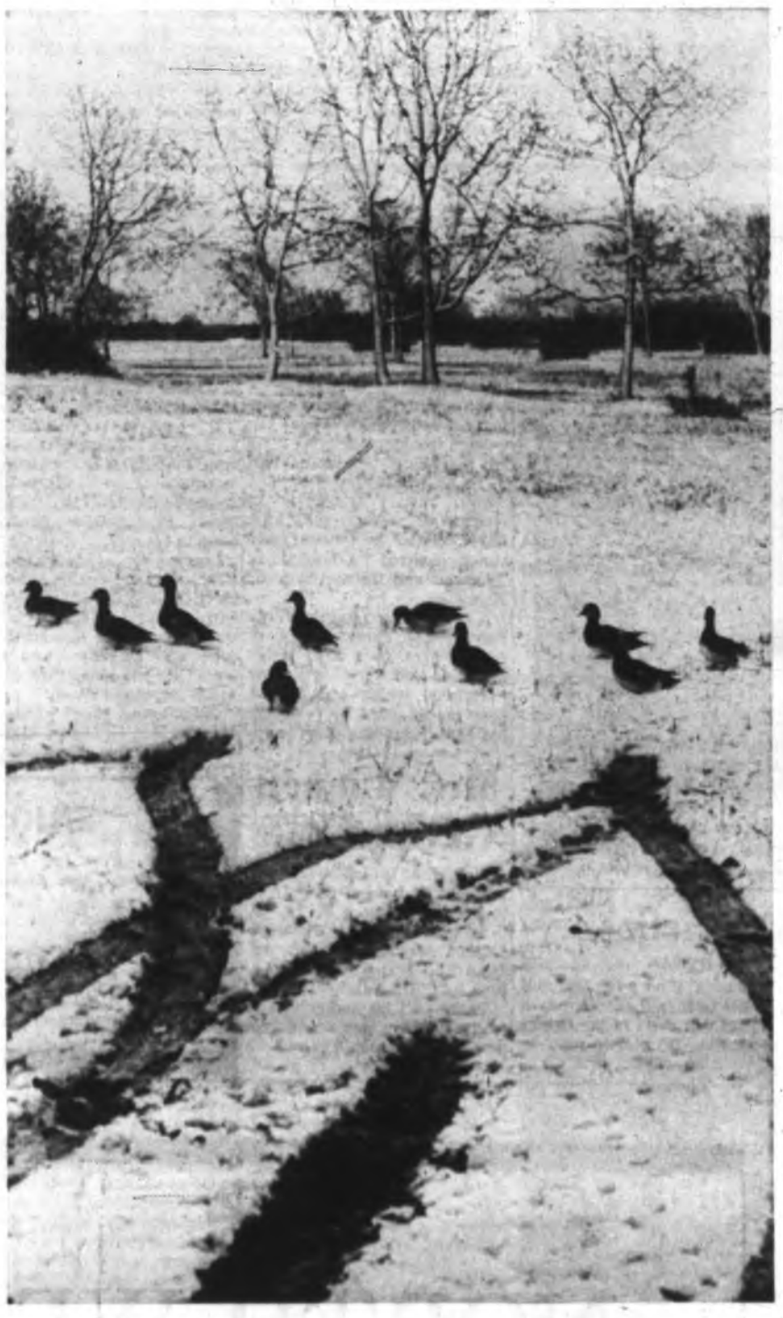
He said a three-man committee was "not a fair representation of council" and it would be better for council to deal with the application Dec. 16.

REEVE OPPOSED

Reeve Murphy indicated he was opposed to the application, as was Coun. Leslie Passmore.

Splitting lots for dupexes "ultimately would lead to having them all over the municipality or we would have to turn down other applicants after letting Mr. Price do it," said Coun. Passmore.

Coun. Gregory Cook agreed with Coun. Passmore.



City Should Buy It

Spare Key Building

If all else fails, the city should be willing to purchase the original Board of Trade building on Bastion Square, to save it from threatened demolition.

This was the consensus of aldermen during a discussion of the matter in committee yesterday.

City manager Dennis Young warned that without the building, which is shortly to be vacated by a cartage firm, the city "may as well eliminate all thought of rehabilitating Bastion Square."

REASON FOR OPTIMISM

Mr. Young reported, however, that there is reason for optimism concerning the future of the building completed in 1892, which he termed "key structure" in the city restoration plans for the historical area.

"I can't say any more at this time," the city manager said. "But there are very definite plans under way to save thie building."

PRIVATE INTERESTS

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow said he would like to see private interests purchase the building rather than the city. But he added "as a last resource" it may be necessary for the city to step in and purchase the property.

Ald. Cecil Parrott said if the offer to purchase the building and tear it down to make room for a parking lot went through it would effectively kill any plans for restoring Bastion Square. "The loss would be irreparable," he said.

CAMPAIGN STUDIED

The committee authorized chairman Ald. A. W. Toone to get in touch with the Chamber of Commerce to learn if that group would spearhead a campaign to raise funds to purchase and rehabilitate the building.

It was suggested that the building interior could be renovated as offices for the Chamber itself and surplus space rented to community groups like the Junior Chamber of Commerce and others.

PERIOD RESTAURANT

The ground floor could be rented for something like a Gay 90's period restaurant.

The building was advertised for sale at $35,000.

If the city were to purchase it funds would probably come from the T. S. McPherson bequest which will yield an estimated $1,000,000 in 1967.

Market Nucleus

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow suggested yesterday that the city-owned former Duncan Storage building become the nucleus of a public market that would include some outdoor stalls on Bastion Square. He said a similar setup is to be found in many English market towns. The public market he envisioned would operate perhaps only day a week.

Pickings Slim

Group of ducks found slim pickings in Beacon Hill Park as first snow of season blanketed Victoria but they needn't worry. Weather office said last night rain would return by Thursday to wash away snow. — (W. A. Boucher.)

City's Cold Due To Snap Soon

Victoria's first cold snap of the season hit last night with temperatures dropping into the 20s.

But rain and warmer weather is predicted for Thursday.

Mostly sunny skies and a temperature of 35 is predicted for today.

"A few snowflurries are predicted for tonight but rain is expected early Thursday," said a weather office spokesman.

Tuesday's snowfall was mostly confined to Southern Vancouver Island.

SLIGHT UP-ISLAND

Duncan and Nanaimo areas reported a very slight smattering of snow.

Road sanding and salting operations were in full swing yesterday morning on the Trans Canada Highway.

Service stations reported a rush for anti-freeze.

Although streets in Victoria were covered with snow yesterday morning, fewer accidents than usual were reported.

The change in weather brought Victorians relief from the almost constant rain during November — 17 of the first 18 days of the month.

Sunshine during November is running about 10 hours short of the normal.

The snowfall apparently claimed only one victim — a woman who went out her back door to look at it and slipped on the porch.

Mrs. Milka Prsa, 1419 Haultain, fell on the steps, breaking her leg. She was reported in good condition in Royal Jubilee Hospital.

12,891 Given New Vaccine

To date, 12,891 persons have received free Sabin polio vaccine doses in the Greater Victoria area.

Today's clinics are at 1947 Cook, Victoria; 2167 Oak Bay Avenue, Oak Bay; 780 Vernon, Saanich and 800 Goldstream, Langford. All clinics will be open from 2 to 4 p.m.

Admiral, Reeve, Lieutenant

Voters Lose Voice After 'Summit' Talk

An officer in the Royal Canadian Navy said last night he ceased being spokesman for a voters' association in Esquimalt last week following a discussion with Reeve A. C. Wurtele and Rear-Admiral W. M. Landymore, flag officer Pacific Coast.

Lieut. Percy Boyd, who is remaining as chairman of the Esquimalt Voters' Association, said he had been called to the admiral's office last Friday where he met Reeve Wurtele and the admiral.

"The reeve said he had come to complain about personal attacks made by me in recent press releases," said Lieut. Boyd.

FULL SLATE

The Esquimalt Voters' Association has fielded a full slate of candidates for the Dec. 5 election, and is against the present policies of council.

Three councillors' seats and the reeve's chair are being contested.

Lieut. Boyd said the admiral heard both sides of the discussion, then the reeve left.

As a result of this conversation, he said, he and the admiral had a private conference. He said he could not divulge the nature of the discussion.

"Any information released must come from the admiral," he said.

"I went back to the association and told them I had been called in and that I would appoint a spokesman. The association concurred," Lieut. Boyd said.

Admiral Landymore could not be reached for comment as he was away in Ottawa on routine naval business. He is expected to return Monday.

Coun. Walter Lock said he would try to find all the facts before offering an opinion. He was one of the two councillors who called for the motion of censure against the reeve to be tabled when it was introduced at Monday night's council meeting by Coun. E. S. Cassels, one member of the Esquimalt Voters' Association slate.

MISINTERPRETATIONS

"At the moment I feel this situation has come about through mistaken impressions and, perhaps, misinterpretations," Coun. Lock said.

Coun. E. L. de Costa, the other councillor who voted to table the motion, said he was investigating the claim but had no comment at this time.

During the discussion with the reeve and the admiral Lieut. Boyd said Reeve Wurtele pointed out when he (Wurtele) was a young lieutenant in Halifax he would not have dared criticize the mayor of that city.

Coun. D. H. Nelson, who is opposing the reeve on the Esquimalt Voters' Association ticket, said he felt the reeve's denial without explanation of the charge that he had intimidated an officer was intimidation of the two councillors who moved and seconded the motion of censure.

CURTAIL ACTIONS

He said that by intimidating the person involved the reeve was endeavouring to curtail the actions of servicemen in their relations to municipal affairs.

He said by denying the charges without explanation the reeve was implying the people who made the motion of censure were not telling the truth.

The motion of censure charged "that you personally, Mr. Reeve, attempted to interfere with the democratic rights of a large group of ratepayers in that you attempted to intimidate a spokesman (of the group) in approaching the flag officer of the Pacific Coast to have him, the spokesman, silenced."

An all-candidates' meeting has been called by the Esquimalt Voters' Association for Nov. 27 at 8 p.m. in Fraser Street Hall.

Land

Varsity Plan Soon

The draft of a development plan for land around the University of Victoria is nearly complete, Saanich planner Antony Parr told lands and planning committee last night.

The over-all plan includes "everything in Saanich east of Blenkinsop Road, and parts of Victoria and Oak Bay," he said.

Mr. Parr recommended that ratepayer associations, the university development board and city and Oak Bay councils be asked their opinions of the plan.

Committee decided to have a look at the draft plan before submitting it to the other groups, and called for the final plan to be brought back after it is modified with their views.

Works Committee

Sidewalk Inlays Get Approval

City beautification continues to spark a great deal of debate among aldermen.

Public works committee yesterday approved the principle of allowing mosaic inlays in the sidewalk outside places of business.

Specific request came from the Sussex Hotel for decoration of the sidewalk outside its front door.

City manager Dennis Young reported the engineering department has raised no objections, and that a precedent existed in the case of the St. John Ambulance headquarters on Pandora.

NO COST TO CITY

The committee agreed that where property owners received permission to decorate sidewalks the city should not be liable for repairs or maintenance. A simple form of agreement spelling this out was suggested.

Ald. A. W. Toone, chairman of the city beautification committee, raised the question of council control of design used.

MATTERN FOR CONCERN

Ald. Millard Mooney agreed this was a matter for concern, adding, "would you like to see the face and figure of a girl put on the sidewalk?"

The committee asked Mr. Young and city engineer James Garnett to study the points raised and make recommendations.

TWO-HOUR ZONE

Public works committee endorsed traffic recommendations for a new two-hour parking zone of Queens between McBride and Blanshard.

H. A. Dobbins, 2849 Cedar Hill Road, was recommended for a six-month extension to operate Arenaway Taxi at 556 Fisgard.

PARK PROJECT

Parks committee approved construction of a 25-foot aluminum frame extension to the existing greenhouse at Beacon Hill Park. The estimated $4,200 cost was included in the 1963 parks budget. The job will be a winter works project.

Garage Foes Still Hoping

Opponents of a service station at Henderson and Cedar Hill Cross Roads are are pinning their hopes on the Hudson's Bay Company buying the site back from the Standard Oil Company.

At a meeting last night of the University District Ratepayers Association, members were urged to sign pledge cards to contribute towards compensating Standard Oil for its expenses on the service station site, other than the almost $50,000 for which it bought the site from Hudson's Bay last year.

Lawyer Donald Cameron said Hudson's Bay is "the real villain here" and said it would be "a small gesture" for the company to buy the land back from Standard Oil.

DROP IN BUCKET

He said the $50,000 to the Hudson's Bay would be "a drop in the bucket" compared with the company's receipts from the 1961 sale of the Gordon Head campus to Victoria College for $450,000 and from associated land sales.

School teacher Eric Makovski accused Oak Bay council of having capitulated to Hudson's Bay when it agreed, in negotiations preceding the Gordon Head campus sale, to retain the service station zoning.

Oak Bay Councillor Alex Hendry, himself a University area resident, said the service station probably would have been built by now but for protracted negotiations in which Oak Bay insisted on rigid specifications.

Mr Cameron and Mr. Makovski are seeking Oak Bay council seats in the coming municipal elections.

The association also passed a resolution asking Oak Bay council to change the zoning on property neighboring the service station and zoned at present for commercial use.

Cars Collide On Icy Road Three Hurt

A two-car, head-on crash on icy Sooke Road last night sent three people to St. Joseph's Hospital.

Police said the cars were driven by Jack Newton, 2520 Government, and Neil Mours McInnis, 254 Smith Street, Richmond.

A passenger in the Newton car, Mrs. Hope Connolly, 2159 Neil, was admitted with head cuts, but was in satisfactory condition. Both the drivers were discharged after treatment.

The accident took place on a bend about three miles east of Sooke. Police said the road was slippery and in spots covered with black ice.

Evangelist in Schools

Grumbles But No Protest

There has been "some grumbling" but no formal protests so far concerning addresses by evangelist Barry Moore to students in certain local secondary schools, a Greater Victoria school board spokesman said yesterday.

Board chairman Mrs. A. B. Thompson said school officials were approached by a local minister last summer on behalf of the Crusade for Christ and were told Mr. Moore would speak "not on religion but on good living."

The ruling by school superintendent John Gough was that principals of individual schools could, at their discretion, allow the talks to their own students, the chairman said.

It appears that a small number of teachers, for reasons that are still not clear, objected to Mr. Moore's appearances at Mount Douglas High School and Colquitz Junior High School.

Mrs. Thompson said she learned of this when approached by a teacher "right in the middle" of salary negotiations just completed.

"I asked the teacher to send the board a letter stating his objections but so far have not received any communication on this matter," she said.

Mrs. Thompson said the board itself has no reason to be concerned about the appearance of Mr. Moore in "one or two" schools recently, but she added that trustees would investigate any complaints.

Earlier, the board chairman said she wholeheartedly agreed with Wilfred Peck, provincial adviser to trustees in 1963-64 salary negotiations with teachers, that the only way to bargain sensibly is on a provincial level rather than district by district.

"As trustees we are not qualified to decide on salary increases," Mrs. Thompson said. "We don't know whether a teacher merits an increase. There are 922 of them and we can't go over the record of each.

"Some would merit increases, some wouldn't, even though I think we do have a wonderful group of teachers on the whole in Greater Victoria."

She didn't think the loss of local autonomy by having a professional bargaining agent would be alarming to ratepayers.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: Our daughter Belinda, who is 16, belongs to a club. There are 25 members, all high school girls between 15 and 18 years of age. They do some interesting things and raise money for good causes. My husband and I always thought it was a worthwhile group.

Last night our daughter told us that they are planning a raffle. The tickets will sell for 25c apiece. The first prize is a date with Belinda—all expenses paid. My husband was absolutely horrified. He said no daughter of his is going to sell her time like a you-know-what. Frankly, I thought it was a rather ingenious idea and saw nothing wrong with it.

Belinda was terribly disappointed. She thought it was a high honor to have been selected as the "prize." We have decided to leave it up to you. Is it immoral, as my husband says? Or is he being square and old-fashioned as my daughter says?—TWO AGAINST ONE.

Dear Mother: Sorry, dear, but I just evened the odds. Novel? Yes. But speaking strictly as a mother I wouldn't want my daughter raffled off as if she were a kewpie doll at a tent-show. Since the girls seems to be so full of novel ideas, let them think of something else.

Dear Ann Landers: A few days ago one of the women in the office mentioned that she had a fairly expensive handbag which she had carried only a few times. She recently married and her husband doesn't like the bag. She asked if I could use it and I suggested that she bring it in and I'd see.

This morning she brought the bag in and I liked it. I thanked her warmly for her generosity and told her I appreciated her thinking of me. She then said, "I didn't mean it as a gift. I had in mind selling it to you." We were both terribly embarrassed and I told her I didn't wish to buy it.

All my life I've been giving away clothes. I wouldn't dream of selling anything to a friend. Will you please tell me if I am stupid or if she is just too commercial to be considered a friend? Thank you.—BAGLESS.

Dear Bagless: Generally speaking it's a bum idea to sell used articles to a friend: Rarely do both parties feel they made a good deal.

In this instance the girl should have made it clear from the outset that she wanted to sell the bag. Her failure to do this put you in a difficult position and it didn't do much for the friendship.

★ ★ ★

Dear Ann Landers: I was very much interested in the letter signed "Keeper Of The Closet Keys." This woman wanted to know if she should tell her grown children that their father who had been dead 15 years was really a scoundrel, rotten to the core, and not the fine man she had taught them to believe he was.

The reason? Well, she was having an affair with some joker who promised to marry her "when he retires" in 1966. Her children did not approve of her travelling with this man since they are not yet married. Her attitude was, "Why should they criticize me when I protected their father's reputation for so many years? I'm an angel compared with what he was."

I have some news for the foolish women. Discrediting her dead husband in the eyes of his children won't make her look one bit better. And, furthermore, this guy won't marry her in 1966 or 1976 either.—WISER NOW.

Dear Now: Thanks for writing. I hope "Keeper" sees this letter. She should throw away those keys in the lake and forget where that door is.

Mr. and Mrs. Croft Wed at Centennial

Centennial United Church was the setting for a pretty wedding recently when Heather Margaret Glover became the bride of John Edward Mingy Croft.

Rev. Dr. S. Parsons officiated at the ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Glover, 2826 Prior Street, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Croft, 915 Inskip Street.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a floor-length gown of white satin sprinkled with sequins. A small crown held her double-tiered net veil and she carried a bouquet of pink roses and freesias.

Mrs. Alan W. Hayton was matron of honor for her sister. She wore a waltz-length gown of pink peau de soie and a double strand of pearls.

Misses Linda J. Thompson and Diane S. Patterson, bridesmaids, wore dresses styled similarly to the matron of honor in cherry red peau de soie.

Mr. Alan W. Hayton was best man and Mr. John Urbaniak and Mr. Michael Parson acted as ushers.

During the signing of the register, Miss G. Harper sang "Through the Years."

A reception followed at Lougheed's banquet hall. The bride's table was centred with a four-tiered cake made by the groom's mother, Mr. Gordon Meeks, Edmonton, proposed the toast to the piece.

Leaving for a honeymoon in Vancouver and Seattle the new Mrs. Croft wore a three-piece, beige-trimmed, dark brown Italian knit suit, muskrat fur cape and alligator shoes and bag. They will make their home at 834 Esquimalt Road.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. G. Meeks, Edmonton; Mr. and Mrs. W. Boone and Miss C. Hayton, New Westminster; Mr. V. Simpson, Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. E. White, Duncan; Mrs. E. Lawson, Campbell River, and Mrs. T. Detweiller, Qualicum Beach.

Festive Ball At Gallery

The Greater Victoria Art Gallery will be transformed into a festive holiday scene when glittering decorations made by the members of the women's committee are put up for the annual Poinsettia Ball to be held Saturday, Dec. 7.

Mrs. Robert Stark is in charge of decorations. Mrs. C. H. Miller is general convener, assisted by Mrs. J. L. Trumpy and Mrs. Brian L. Rounding.

A smorgasbord supper will be served and dancing will be from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. to the music of Len Acres' orchestra.

Tickets, which are limited, may be reserved by telephoning Mrs. Rounding at 477-3531.

Mrs. Winnett To Open Sale

Mrs. H. A. Winnett will open the annual bazaar to be held under the auspices of the LA to Branch 172, Royal Canadian Legion, Wednesday, Nov. 20, from 2 to 4:30 p.m. in the Legion hall, 622 Admirals Road.

There will be home baking, white elephant, aprons, parcel post, etc., for sale. Tea will be served.

Christmas Bazaar

Centennial Chapter, No. 87, Order of the Eastern Star, will hold their Christmas Bazaar in the K of P Hall Saturday, Nov. 23, from 2 to 4:30 p.m. Sister Mary Spouse, grand electa, will open the bazaar.

There'll be stalls for home cooking, sewing, novelties, candy, mystery parcels and a special Christmas stall. Tea will also be served during the afternoon.

Breakfast Tray Flowers Anniversary Tradition

By MARGARET SAVILLE

LONDON (UPI) — Promptly at 8 o'clock this morning Margaret (Bobo) MacDonald will wheel a breakfast tray into the bedroom of Queen Elizabeth.

On the tray the Queen's personal maid will have the usual pot of special China tea, an egg, toast and fruit juice as she does every morning.

* * *

But this morning there'll also be a large bouquet, probably white and probably including carnations which are a favorite of the Queen. With the bouquet will be a small card on which a single word is written in a bold hand.—Philip.

For today is the 16th anniversary of the day a very shy but radiantly happy Princess Elizabeth was married in Westminster Abbey to the naval lieutenant she loved. He was Philip Mounthatten, born a Greek prince, now a naturalized British citizen and just on the wedding eve created Duke of Edinburgh by the bride's father, King George VI.

* * *

The breakfast tray flowers are a tradition with Prince Philip.

There is no public fuss over the anniversary. Privately the day is marked within the family and among friends as is the custom in most marriages, with gifts and greetings.

As a rule the Queen and her husband do salute each other with a champagne toast at dinner. But the Queen may substitute fruit juice or some other non-alcoholic drink this year since she is expecting a child, the Royal couple's fourth. The Queen's gynecologist Sir John Peel forbids alcohol to his pregnant patients.

Also at dinner the Queen and Prince Philip normally exchange gifts. This is one present he invariably shops for himself, not necessarily lavish but likely to be sentimental or personal. One year his anniversary gift was an engraved makeup compact. Another year a charm bracelet.

Sometimes on past anniversaries there has been a family theatre party to mark the occasion but there are not known to be any such plans this time.

Bird Lovers

POOLE, England (AP) — At the request of the happy couple, 60 guests at a wedding on Brownsea Island threw birdseed instead of confetti Sunday. Principals in the marriage were Clifford Macdonald and Mrs. Jane Aiken, a widow, who are volunteer wardens at the island bird sanctuary.

Mrs. MacBride Heads Group

At the annual meeting of the LA to the Capital City Yacht Club, Mrs. A. MacBride was named president.

Mrs. F. A. Robinson was named vice-president and Mrs. E. Martin was elected secretary-treasurer. Membership chairman Mrs. S. Holmes reported the auxiliary now has 68 members.

Advance organization plans by Mrs. J. Lord and Mrs. R. Hill are under way for the buffet-style supper to be served by the LA for the annual meeting of the men's CCYC Wednesday, Nov. 20, at the Elk's Hall banquet room at 6:30 p.m.

During the year the auxiliary presented the club house at Clark's Marina with four banquet tables and a large size coffee urn. Next luncheon is Tuesday, Dec. 3, at the T. Eaton Co.

I WANT A MAN TO WORK WITH me. I will teach him all I know about my business. I will pay the right man more than he is worth to start, and exactly what he is worth after that. I expect no capital investment but only honest, intelligent effort. We don't work a 40-hour week but we don't punch clocks either. If you are a high school graduate, 28 years old or better, and have a sense of responsibility, you may be the man I am looking for, so write Victoria Press Box 466, and I guarantee a reply.

TV TALK

By JIM TAYLOR

The Jerry Lewis show has been cancelled.

The most expensive television show ever attempted ($200,000 a week budget) has become perhaps the biggest flop in the history of the medium, and the second half of ABC's great gamble has failed along with the first.

"Adjust the set, Harry — those CBS stars look exactly like their caricatures in the ads."

ABC went all out to win viewers from CBS and NBC this year on the strength of two shows, 100 Grand and Jerry Lewis. The quiz show lasted three weeks, and when Lewis packs it up Dec. 14 he will be doing his 13th show.

Lewis was quoted as saying he had requested to quit the show, despite a 40-week commitment because of "extreme differences of opinion regarding its format." But the word had been circulating for weeks that the only thing keeping the show on the air was that ABC couldn't come to terms with Lewis on the purchase price of his contract.

Rumor has it that half of the Lewis time slot will be filled by a 60-minute George Burns show, and here again ABC would be gambling. Burns was a smash hit on guest shots with Perry Como, Tonight and Steve Allen, but his type of humor could get pretty stale over one hour a week. ABC will be betting a lot of money it won't.

Why did Lewis fail? Particularly, I think, because his is a talent completely lacking in discipline. Lewis wanted to be the whole show, and no one ever said no. On his first show, Lewis laid one of the biggest eggs of all time. He was crude and offensive, and he probably lost most of his audience that first time out.

"FOREST" CEDAR SIDING

A new cedar specialty for Beauty Long Life Economy

• • •

What is "FOREST" Siding?

A new and attractive type of siding that comes from specially selected cedar logs sawn to bring out all the distinctive character of knots, burls and grain.

How Does "FOREST" compare with other siding?

It has more thickness, greater wood volume to add structural strength to any building. Its snug fitting makes good insulation and its low cost makes it ideal for modest budget home builders or remodellers.

How to finish "FOREST"

"Forest" has a distinctive horizontal shadow line that will enhance the beauty of your home.

There are numerous highly satisfactory stains on the market. They come in a variety of colors, such as Redwood Cedar, Wheat tone, Framings, Maple-wood and mahogany.

YOU can easily apply "FOREST" cedar siding

Many home owners have applied this modern, beautiful "Forest" siding themselves without the slightest difficulty.

Winning Contract

By HOWARD SCHENKEN and RICHARD L. FREY

The inventor of the idea of suit-preference signalling, Hy Levinthal, of Trenton, N.J., has written a book devoted largely to this theme. The title is "Defense Tricks," and the publisher is George Coffin, Waltham, Mass. This deal from the book shows how a suit-preference signal could have prevented a wily declarer from stealing a slam.

North's response of one no trump showed a balanced hand with about 10 high-card points; the no trump response becomes stronger when the opening bid is a club, because a weak hand can always find an alternative bid.

South's jump to slam was a wild stab, but it must be admitted that he had a considerable problem. He knew that his side had sufficient strength for a game, so an invitational jump to three clubs would not do justice to his hand. A jump to five clubs was a possibility; probably best would be three hearts, permitting some exploration of slam possibilities below the game level.

When declarer ruffed the lead of the diamond king, he could see that he had virtually no real chance of making the slam; East had to hold the spade ace-queen doubleton—a very remote chance. Declarer therefore attempted a swindle. He led a trump to dummy's king and led the diamond queen, discarding a heart from his own hand. West won and returned a heart, innocently supposing that this was South's weakness. Declarer was able to discard all his spades—two on diamonds and one on the heart queen—and make his contract.

After the first trick, both defenders knew the diamond situation. So when declarer led the diamond queen from dummy, East should have dropped the eight. This should be read as a suit-preference for a high-ranking suit and the defenders would be able to expose declarer's bluff.

Silver Plate Among the Horns

Inflation Deflates Royal Fanfare

LONDON (CP) — High prices have caught up with the Queen's royal trumpeters. They're replacing their 20 silver horns with silver-plated ones.

Since the current silver horns were acquired in 1938 for $1,120 apiece, they have blown a lot of fanfares for Britain's monarchs. Now replacements are needed.

The price of the new trumpets was not divulged, but ordinary silver - plated trumpets usually cost about $280.

A spokesman for the Household Cavalry sought to assure upset traditionalists.

"Apart from an economy drive," he said, "these trumpets will be silver-plated because they produce the pitch required, which is lower than the silver ones."

That prompted an inquiry as to whether high-pitched fanfares from the silver trumpets might have given the Queen a royal headache.

"That question sir," said the spokesman, "could hardly be termed as proper."

Indian Tots Perish

ALERT BAY (CP)—A hospital vessel raced 40 miles through darkness to save the lives of two survivors of a fire that killed three children.

The 66-foot Columbia Coast Mission vessel Columbia raced from Alert Bay, 400 miles north of Vancouver, to a remote Indian reserve to pick up two children.

Eric, Joanne and Corinna Smith—6, 3 and 2 respectively—died when fire destroyed their wooden frame house built on stilts on the banks of the Kingcome River Monday.

Wilma Smith, 5, and Clarence Moon, 10, were treated on the Columbia then flown to hospital here.

Members of the Tsawataineuk Indian band paddled dugout canoes to a small port where a radio message was sent to Alert Bay.

Capt. William Nicholson, of the Columbia, picked up a doctor and plasma and cast off.

Dr. Cezar Heine said he gave plasma to one of the children, who later died, and to Wilma.

The Smith children's father said the fire apparently started from an overheated lamp.

Disturbed Father Slew In Rage, Says Jury

NANAIMO—A psychiatrist told a coroner's jury here last night a man who killed two of his children and himself last month, was disturbed but sane two weeks before the shooting.

The jury ruled Erling Salo killed his daughter Glenda, 13, and son Roy, 5, while in a disturbed state of mind Oct. 29.

A rider attached to the verdict stated the jury thought Salo's condition was due to unsuccessful attempts by him at a reconciliation with his estranged wife.

Dr. Joseph Boulding, a psychiatrist, said although Salo was in a disturbed state of mind at the time he was examined Oct. 15, he was "definitely sane."

Dr. Boulding said both Mr. and Mrs. Salo asked for an appointment with him Oct. 12 to discuss their marriage problems.

Mrs. Salo later called and said she was not interested in a reconciliation so Salo went to him alone, the doctor testified.

Mrs. B. M. Martin, probation officer, said after Salo was given six months probation in August for an assault on his wife, she saw them both several times.

After an hour of deliberation, the jury brought in a verdict that the man committed suicide by shooting himself in the stomach and that he murdered the children in a rage and in a state of mental anguish.

Jail Brew Blinds Prisoner

VANCOUVER (CP)—Frank Cooper, 35, serving a nine-month term in Oakala Prison for theft, has gone blind from drinking a home-brew concoction made from shellac thinner, prison authorities disclosed Tuesday.

They said Cooper and three other inmates staged a scret home-brew party in a cell block in August after smuggling in half a gallon of methyl hydrate shellac thinner being used on a painting job. The three others became violently ill but recovered.

Gunfire Starts Today

Island coastal waters will be bombarded this week as army and RCN units conduct practice firing exercises.

Beginning today at 8 a.m., the navy will fire pyrotechnic shells in the Christopher Point area of the Strait of Juan de Fuca. The firing, scheduled between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m., will continue until Friday.

The navy will be firing 40-millimetre weapons in the Christopher Point area again Friday and Saturday and Nov. 25 to 29.

Artillerymen from the 15th Field Regiment (Militia) will fire 105-mm. howitzers Saturday in seaward firing practices at Albert Head camp. The firing is scheduled from 10:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Two Fires Quelled

Two fires broke out almost simultaneously in the Burnside school area yesterday.

J. C. Smith, 3032 Jutland, arrived home at 5 p.m. and saw a small fire in his garage which he put out.

As he completed his fire-fighting task he noticed smoke coming out from under the steps at the school. It was extinguished.

Spies Must Have Good Intentions

BERN (UPI) — Spies whose espionage activities are designed to prevent wars can count on leniency from Swiss courts, the government has reported.

The statement was contained in an official answer to a parliamentary question requesting an amendment to the Swiss penal code. The change would provide automatic verdicts of innocence for spies who can prove honorable motives.

The government ruling said it would be impossible to amend the many sections of the Swiss espionage law, but added that judges should pronounce "only mild sentences" for honorably motivated spying.

Duncan Mayor To Run Again

DUNCAN—The mayor of Duncan Tuesday announced he will seek re-election in the Dec. 5 municipal election.

Jack Dobson will end his 16th year on the council this December. For the past eight years he has been mayor.

He said, "There are a number of projects I want to see completed."

Also seeking re-election are Ald. Hamish Mutter, completing three years, and Jim Patterson ending his first two-year term on the council. So far no other candidates have been nominated.

B.C. Indemnity Fund

Traffic Victims Paid Over $1,000,000

B.C.'s Traffic Victims Indemnity Fund has paid more than $1,000,000 to innocent victims of uninsured drivers since the fund was set up in June, 1961.

Director Ken Malthouse said 449 persons have received $1,024,526 from the fund since it was set up to protect victims of hit-and-run drivers, drivers of stolen cars and unlicensed drivers.

Funds to pay claims come from insurance companies. When an offending driver is involved in a claim through the fund, he loses his licence until arrangements are made for him to repay the fund, usually by small monthly payments.

In the first eight months of this year some $20,000 has been recovered by this means.

Claims since the fund was instituted have included 382 personal injury cases and 67 property damage claims. Pedestrians have accounted for 68 of the injury claims and there have been 46 claims involving hit-and-run accidents.

How to Cure Scab

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

I imagine mildew is about the most common of all the plant diseases we encounter in our day-to-day gardening operations, and I have discussed mildew and its control from time to time in this column. But running mildew a close second among the afflictions that bedevil the hapless home gardener is the family of fungus diseases known as scab.

Scab is a skin disease, something like the acne that causes the pimples on a teen-ager's skin. One branch of the family, Actinomyces scabies, attacks the skins of potatoes. Another, Venturia inaequalis, is the most common and widespread of all apple diseases, while Venturia pirina causes a similar spotting on the skin of pears.

* * *

Gladiolus corm scab, Bacterium marginatum, differs from apple and potato scab diseases in that it is caused by bacteria rather than fungus organisms, but the effect is similar, shiny black or brown spots on the glad bulbs.

The disease organisms of apple scab spend the winter mostly on fallen leaves, particularly in nearby hedge bottoms. When these are wetted by rain in the spring, the microscopic disease spores are jet-propelled, blasting off to a height of about one-quarter of an inch into the air—a fantastic height in relation to the size of the spore.

Once they are airborne, the apple scab disease spores are dispersed through the atmosphere by the wind. Eventually they alight upon the leaf of an apple tree, its natural host, and given sufficient moisture, the spore pushed a "root" into the tissues of the leaf, and the infection begins.

During the summer, the disease within the leaf produces another kind of spore which is not airborne but is carried off the leaf in drops of water. As each drop touches the skin of a young developing apple, one of these brown scabs is formed.

* * *

Preventive treatment consists of raking up and burning all the leaves from an infected tree, together with any windfall apples. The tree should be sprayed thoroughly with Captan or some all-purpose spray containing a similar fungicide. The spray program for scab should start when the blossom buds are showing a trace of pink in the spring, and should be repeated every 10 days for a total of four sprayings.

Only the skins of scabby apples are affected. The flesh is unaffected and quite wholesome to eat after peeling.

The same applies to scabby potatoes; only the skins are diseased, but fairly deep peeling is necessary and you lose quite a lot of potato in the peeling. It must be remembered that the scabby skins are highly infectious to other potatoes, and the peelings should be burned or buried deeply rather than consigned to the compost heap.

Potato scab is soil-borne rather than airborne, and it is wise to grow potatoes on a different portion of the vegetable plot each year to avoid a disastrous buildup of disease organisms in the soil. Certain soil fungicides have given good protection in infected soils, particularly the chemical known as PCNB, but it is expensive to treat a whole plot. Potato scab is encouraged by lime and by applications of hen manure, so these dressings should be avoided in the potato plot.

To avoid scabby potatoes, start with fresh, certified disease-free seed potatoes. In planting, cover each seed piece in the furrow with a good shovelful of half-rotted leaves or well-rotted manure before covering.

* * *

Chemicals don't seem to help much in the control of gladiolus scab. The lesions in this case are caused by a particularly stubborn strain of bacteria, so fungicides are useless. The treatment most commonly recommended is soaking the corms in a solution of mercuric chloride, one part in 1,000 parts of water, but this is a messy business and the chemical is highly poisonous.

Good culture is about the best weapon against scab in gladiolus. When a bulb shows only one or two of the hard, shiny, varnish-like lesions, they may be dug out with the point of a pocket knife and the wounds dusted with sulphur. More seriously affected corms should be burned, and the glads should be grown on a different piece of ground the following year.

CHARLES McDOWELL Offers Set of Rules

Women Shoppers a Menace

A dark art called traffic engineering is all the rage these days, and the field is full of men who seem to be brilliant. The cities have put themselves in the hands of the traffic engineers. For all we know, the traffic engineers have been helpful. (Frankly, we doubt it, but our blind intolerance of parking meters warps our judgment in the whole field of traffic engineering.)

The fact remains that there are terrible traffic problems going unattended. The engineers are concentrating their talents, for better or worse, on outdoor problems. How about indoor traffic problems?

Consider the traffic in the aisles of supermarkets and department stores.

We have been trying to consider the traffic in supermarkets but our nerves can't take it. The traffic engineers should be called in at once. The supermarkets have nothing to lose.

As for the department stores, the traffic outlook is quite terrifying as the Christmas shopping season approaches, but it is conceivable to us that the situation could be saved through the voluntary co-operation of shoppers.

We have in mind a set of rules calculated to bring a semblance of order to rush traffic in department stores. The alternative to voluntary compliance is to call in the traffic engineers and start learning to live with such things as walk-don't-walk lights and one-way aisles.

The suggested rules follow:

- Women shall keep to the right and try to keep their wits about them at intersections.
- Women shopping in convoy (three or more together) shall walk through the aisles in Indian file.
- Women crossing an arterial aisle, particularly those carrying large, angular parcels, shall stop, look both ways and perhaps sound a warning before proceeding.
- Women in Yard Goods, for example, shall not back suddenly into the aisle to get a long view of the goods.
- Women carrying shopping bags shall refrain from swinging them, employing them as rams in elevators, or nudging gentlemen at the rear of the knees with them.
- Women encountering friends in the centre of an aisle shall not stop there to talk but shall proceed to some quiet, female department of the store.
- Women shall not give hand signals or otherwise gesture with hands holding umbrellas, curtain rods, pocketbooks weighing more than three pounds, candlesticks or knobby small children.
- Women shall try to keep their elbows to themselves.
- Women shall remember at all times that the store contains gentlemen shoppers who are inexperienced, confused and frail.

The Astonishing World of SHEILAH GRAHAM

Lesson in Etiquette!

HOLLYWOOD (NANA) — As I told you, Lucille Ball's husband Gary Morton has taken up golf. He was at a fashionable restaurant in Palm Springs after playing in the Frank Sinatra golf tournament. A young man arguing with his wife at the next table accidentally upset her cup of coffee and some of it splashed on Gary's sports coat. "Oh, my poor $250 jacket that my wife just bought me," groaned Gary. The young man apologized, and left soon afterwards. Outside he was attacked by a gang of boys and he was beaten unconscious. At the hospital his face required stitches on both sides. One moral of this story is, never get into an argument with your wife in a restaurant. Another is, don't splash coffee on Gary's coat.

Elizabeth Taylor has told Mike Wilding that if he is suing anyone on the question of his virility, she will gladly testify on his behalf. Liz was married to Mike from 1952 to 1957 and bore him two sons.

Gadget Hooks Compulsive Chopper

By STANLEY DELAPLANE

After being exposed to a sharp TV campaign, I went right out and bought a food chopper. I am an impulse buyer. The kind department stores love.

I surely did not need this chopper. But the ads were wonderful!

For one thing, this gadget chops French fries like a TV western puts bullets out of a Colt .45.

Chop! French fries come out of the whole potato in one motion. Chop! Another potato is split in sections. Chop! That is the problem. I cannot quit chopping and I am running out of potatoes. It is like eating peanuts.

About potatoes. They had a bad deal in public relations.

At one time, the Scots would not eat them because they were not mentioned in the Bible. The Scots ate haggis, a pudding made of sheep stomach, but they would not eat potatoes.

Early day doctors thought potatoes caused many ills. Such as leprosy and rickets, both of which are bad for you.

However, Frederick the Great was all for potatoes. He made the people eat spuds so there would be other goodies for his army.

Vodka is made of potatoes. It is a versatile tuber.

This machine also chops onions into beautiful rings. One chop-chop! Potatoes and onions are pretty good when fried together. But I am getting mighty tired of them.

Still I cannot let the chopper alone. It dices things too. Not that I want to dice anything. But the idea is sensational.

It is this sort of gadgetry that has put men into the kitchen. As soon as you get a gadget in the scatter, a man cannot let it alone.

If he does let it alone, you can be sure he soon gets emergency calls.

"Can you show me how to work this, dear? I don't understand the instructions. I suppose you think I'm terribly stupid but—"

The kitchen is full of mechanical gadgetry. The stove has four automatic timers — most of which go off in the middle of the night like a burglar alarm.

The refrigerator has automatic de-frosting that requires setting dials. The various things you must set on a steam iron makes it look like an airplane instrument board.

Now we have the chopper. Who is the full-time mechanic? You aren't asking that seriously, are you?

Too Much Spinach Proves Bad Thing

OTTAWA (CP)—Too much spinach is a bad thing. That's the word of Dr. J. M. Coon, head of the pharmacology department of Jefferson Medical College in Philadelphia.

Dr. Coon, questioned yesterday by the Commons food and drugs committee about the effects of chemical insecticides on people, said there are other chemicals appearing naturally in some foods which are harmful too.

One example: Oxalic acid in spinach and rhubarb. "If one ate spinach three times a day, it would be deleterious."

Dr. Coon said that rats fed a diet containing 10 per cent spinach suffer kidney damage and other ailments.

"Best news kids have had in ages," remarked Wallace Nesbitt (PC—Oxford).

Announce New Healing Substance... Shrinks Piles, Checks Itch

Exclusive healing substance proven to shrink hemorrhoids . . . and repair damaged tissue.

A renowned research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It relieves itching and discomfort in minutes and speeds up healing of the injured, inflamed tissues.

One hemorrhoidal case history after another reported "very striking improvement." Pain was promptly and gently relieved . . . actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place."

Among these case histories were a variety of hemorrhoidal conditions. Relief even occurred in cases of long standing, and most important of all, results were so thorough that this improvement was maintained over a period of many months.

This was accomplished with a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulates growth of new tissue. Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form called Preparation H.

In addition to actually shrinking hemorrhoids, Preparation H lubricates and makes elimination less painful. It helps prevent infection which is a principal cause of hemorrhoids.

Just ask your druggist for Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment (with a special applicator).

Satisfaction guaranteed or your money refunded.

'Don't Let Teachers Strike'

CALGARY (AP) — Alberta Social Crediters proposed Tuesday, following a stormy 45-minute debate, that school teachers be denied the right to strike.

A resolution passed at the opening session of the Alberta Social Credit League convention urged that in final negotiations between teachers and school boards, an arbitration board be named "with acceptance of its award compulsory for both parties."

The resolution, opposed by Alberta Labor Minister Raymond Reierson, also urged that the teaching profession be regulated under the Alberta School Act rather than the labor act.

Floyd Baker, MLA for Clover Bar, sponsor of the resolution, said strikes by teachers were "strikes against the children of Alberta."

"How can a dedicated teacher be concerned about the welfare of our children when they will strike against them?"

Clover Bar constituency has been the scene of two teachers' strikes in the last eight years, the most recent last September.

"Something must be done—we cannot pass this up," said Mr. Baker. "We want something done and done at this session."

Mr. Reierson said during the last eight years teachers and school boards in Alberta had signed 2,000 contracts and there had been only two strikes —both in Clover Bar, and both short-lived.

"I find it rather strange that in these eight years there has never been a request from trustees or teachers' locals that the conciliation board should become an arbitration board," he said.

For Want of Shoe . . .

DERBY, England (UPI)—The London-Manchester express was delayed five minutes yesterday while a porter retrieved a woman's shoe from the tracks. "We don't normally delay expresses," an official said, "but we could hardly let her travel with one shoe."

B.C. Cabinet Meets At Historic Fort

LANGLEY (CP)—The B.C. cabinet held its annual Douglas Day meeting at historic Fort Langley Monday.

Only seven ministers were at the meeting in the "big house" of the restored fort. Premier Bennett is on vacation and other ministers were occupied elsewhere. No statement followed the meeting.

The cabinet met in the building where Sir James Douglas was sworn in as the first governor of British Columbia 103 years ago.

Ballots Won't Give Party Affiliations

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons election committee Tuesday defeated, by one vote, a proposal that party affiliations of federal election candidates be printed on the ballots.

The proposal, sponsored by a Liberal and seconded by an NDP member, went down to defeat on the vote of J. J. Greene (L—Renfrew South) who broke what would have been a tie by walking into the committee just as chairman Alexis Caron (L—Hull) called for the vote.

In the Commons, opposition leader Diefenbaker charged the government has packed the Confederation centennial committee with Liberal party workers. He said it should be more representative of a cross-section of Canada.

Prime Minister Pearson said two Canadian pilots held prisoners in Cuba, Ronald Lippert of Kitchener and William Milne of Montreal, will be tried Saturday on charges of smuggling explosives into that country and endangering the security of the state.

PUBLIC BARRED

The public will not be allowed to sit in on next week's conference to consider the link between smoking and lung cancer because of insufficient space, Health Minister LaMarsh said.

Trade Minister Sharp branded as "completely false" stories in U.S. newspapers that China has defaulted on its payments for Canadian wheat.

Six Experts Aid Bennett

Six financial and constitutional experts will accompany Premier Bennett to the federal-provincial conference in Ottawa next week, it was disclosed yesterday. They are Attorney-General Bonner, his deputy Gilbert Kennedy, finance deputy G. S. Bryson, his assistant William Veitch and two treasury aides.

Prince Slaps U.S.

PHNOM PENH (AP)—Prince Norodom Sihanouk, ruler of Cambodia, Tuesday severed all economic and military ties with the United States.

Sihanouk charged that U.S. aid was being used to undermine him.

He announced his decision in a fiery speech before an emergency session of his political party at a Phnom Penh stadium.

CHEERING CROWD

He told a wildly cheering crowd of Youth Corps members that American equipment had been used by rebel Cambodians operating from South Viet Nam.

The U.S. embassy said it had received no official text of the prince's denunciation, nor had the embassy been formally notified of any change in relations with Cambodia. It was expected such notification might come today.

TRAGIC IF TRUE

An American spokesman described the development as "tragic, if it is true."

U.S. aid to Cambodia averages about $30,000,000 a year, which is about the same figure as the national yearly deficit. Funds generated by the American commercial import program in Cambodia pay for about 40 per cent of the upkeep of the nation's small armed forces.

TO MAINTAIN TIES

Sihanouk said that while he would stop receiving any form of American assistance, he planned to maintain diplomatic ties with the United States.

There are currently about 300 Americans in official capacities in this nation of 6,000,000 inhabitants, including about 65 officers and men of the U.S. armed forces.

The cut would reduce the

Heart Seizure Kills Puck-Chasing Mayor

TORONTO (CP)—Mayor Donald Summerville of Toronto died Tuesday night after suffering a heart attack while playing goal in an exhibition hockey game.

Mr. Summerville, 48, collapsed in the dressing room of George Bell Arena after skating from a pile-up in front of his net in the first few minutes of the game.

With Mr. Summerville when he collapsed were Alderman Mike Grayson and James Vipond, sports editor of the Globe and Mail.

"I'M ALL RIGHT"

"I'm all right . . . I'm all right," he told them, but he then pitched forward on his face.

The fire department was called and an inhalator was applied to the mayor. An ambulance arrived a few minutes later and took him, unconscious, to St. Joseph's Hospital, where he died shortly after.

FLOOD RELIEF AID

The hockey game pitted city council members against a press, radio and television team. It was to raise funds for the Toronto Italian flood relief fund.

Mr. Summerville, a former reserve goalie for Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League, arrived at the arena after attending a long meeting of the Metropolitan Toronto council.

About 1,200 spectators in the arena saw the mayor skate off the ice after the goalmouth pileup but did not realize he suffered the heart attack later. The game was completed.

Mr. Summerville was elected mayor of Toronto in December, 1962, ousting Nathan Phillips.

TERROR MOUNTS IN VENEZUELA

CARACAS (UPI)—The Pro-Castro Armed Forces of National Liberation launched a reign of terror in the streets of the Venezuelan capital city Tuesday and at least 16 persons were killed in a series of gunbattles, bombings and fires.

Seventy persons were injured.

It was the worst day of bloodshed since the underground FALN began its campaign of anti-government terror two years ago.

The Caracas violence was designed to back up the FALN's call for a nationwide general strike and to disrupt elections scheduled for Dec. 1.

150 ARRESTED

Venezuelan national guardsmen arrested more than 150 members of the FALN and the strike appeal appeared to fall flat. Organized labor ignored it.

In a naked show of violence, the FALN used strongarm tactics in trying to bully workers into staying away from their jobs. Terrorists resorted to bullets, bombs and burnings but it was business as usual in most section of the city.

VIOLENCE SPORADIC

Violence was sporadic and largely confined to the poorer sections of Caracas. Small shopkeepers in the slum areas received personal visits from terrorists Monday warning them their shops would be put to the torch if they opened Tuesday.

Police were placed on full alert and military patrols walked the streets. In the federal district alone, 7,300 police patrolled the city "which was marked out in 42 zones.

CRUDE PLAN

Authorities denounced the terrorist strike call as a crude Communist manoeuvre to block the Dec. 1 elections. Navy units originally scheduled to participate in joint exercises off the Colombian coast cancelled the operation and patroled the Venezuelan coast to prevent any Castro aid reaching the terrorists.

The massive confederation of labor, which supports the government, ordered its members to ignore the strike call.

Hundreds Perish

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP)—The public health department said Tuesday about 500 persons have been killed since last Thursday by floods and landslides.

It said thousands were homeless and estimated damage in the millions of dollars.

10 British Counties Swamped

LONDON (AP)—Gale-driven rainstorms swamped 10 countries in England and Wales Tuesday, flooding thousands of acres of farmlands and blocking major highways.

Storms that ravaged the country during the last 48 hours moderated inland, but still battered coastal areas of Britain and parts of the European continent.

Worst hit were the southern counties of England, notably Sussex and Kent.

GENERAL ALARM

Authorities called a general alarm in west Sussex as rivers broke their banks, spilled across farmlands and flooded roads.

Storm tides smashed down sea walls along the Sussex coast. Bulldozers were brought in to rebuild the crumbling walls.

Gale winds buffeted shipping in the English Channel.

Paper Thrust Into Hands —Then Arrest

WASHINGTON (AP)—Professor Frederick C. Barghoorn of Yale University said Tuesday night he was seized by Soviet security men after an unidentified young man thrust a roll of papers into his hands in front of a Moscow hotel.

The professor, disclosing to reporters the details of his 16-day confinement by the Russians, declined to charge that he was deliberately "framed" on spy charges.

But his account given at the state department pointed in that direction.

MANY PROTESTS

The 52-year-old Barghoorn was finally freed Saturday after the U.S. government made many protests and President Kennedy publicly denied the professor was a spy.

Barghoorn talked with high state department officials for more than five hours before he met with reporters.

He gave this account of his sudden imprisonment after a month in the Soviet Union gathering material for a book:

NIGHT BEFORE

At about 7:25 p.m. on Oct. 31, the night before he planned to leave for Warsaw, Barghoorn was about to enter his hotel when "a youngish looking man" approached him.

The man was a stranger, as far as Barghoorn can recall.

Acquitted

Jury of 11 men and one woman last night acquitted former fashion model Mrs. Barbara Clow, 37, on a charge of stealing $228,000 from Billings Motors in Brockville, Ont., where she was accountant from 1958 to 1962. She testified she was the mistress of owner Murray Billings, who showered her with gifts.

Didn't Have Authority

Strapping Teacher Fined

KAMLOOPS (CP)—North Kamloops school teacher charged with assaulting a student with the strap was found guilty and fined $25 by Magistrate D. M. MacDonald Monday.

The decision ends a trial which has spread out over almost a month. It ended Nov. 2 and was adjourned until Monday for the magistrate's decision.

Bryan Kirwan, a teacher at George Hilliard Elementary School, was charged with assault causing bodily harm after strapping 12-year-old Tommy Goodwin on the last day of school in June.

FATHER LAID CHARGE

The charges were laid by the boy's father, T. B. Goodwin of Brocklehurst. He said the boy's hands were black and blue following the strapping.

Magistrate MacDonald said the punishment was reasonable but that Kirwan had no authority to take the boy back to school after he had been dismissed and had gone home.

The Goodwin boy was strapped after letting the air out of Mr. Kirwan's tires after being dismissed from school June 27. He also smeared toothpaste on the car windshield.

Mr. Kirwan went to the boy's home to ask his parents permission to take Tommy back to school. Mr. and Mrs. Goodwin were not home but he told the boy to come with him and clean up the mess.

STRAPPED 15 TIMES

After the boy cleaned the car, Mr. Kirwan strapped him 15 times—six on one hand and nine on the other—and sent him home.

DESERVED IT

"There is no question in my mind that this boy was certainly deserving punishment," Magistrate MacDonald said ". . . and I am not satisfied beyond a reasonable doubt that the teacher did in fact use excessive force." But Mr. Kirwan had to have the authority to strap the boy, the magistrate said.

Judge Fined For Slapping

KASSON, Minn. (AP)—Juvenile court Judge L. A. Paulsrude got a sentence of a $50 fine or 10 days in jail Tuesday for slapping an 11-year-old girl who illegally set off firecrackers in the street.

Paulsrude told bystanders at the time of the incident he was punishing Jenny for breaking the law and was holding court in the street.

BRITAIN TODAY

Housing Situation Sparks Discontent

By KEN MacTAGGART
(Third of a Series)

LONDON — There are 14,600,000 "homes" in Britain. They are occupied by 14,700,000 "households" because about 100,000 families are doubled up with others.

This is a big improvement over 12 years ago when census showed more than 1,000,000 doubled-up households.

Nearly half of the dwellings were built before the First World War. Half of these were built before 1875, and more than half of the rest before 1850.

More than 80 per cent of 7,000,000 old houses and flats are owned by landlords; about 975,000 are classified as slums, though trade union officials say the ratio ought to be much higher because lack of a bath, hot water or a flush toilet is not a criterion of a slum.

Discontent with affairs in Britain obviously flows from homes such as these.

More Discontent

But even greater discontent appears to come from areas where better housing has been provided.

During the Attlee (Labor) regime of 1945-51, 979,869 new housing units were built. Most were "local authority," dwellings subsidized by the government and built under local council direction.

Since the Conservative government took office in 1951, another 3,256,290 units have been built, 1,930,204 of which are subsidized. This is an average of more than 300,000 new

Battery Troubles

Copter Crew Found Safe

TERRACE (CP)—A helicopter missing for three days near here was found Tuesday and after repairs continued to its destination at Alice Arm, 70 miles northwest of this community.

The Hiller 12E machine owned by Okanagan Helicopters Ltd. was forced down by battery trouble and was located by another company helicopter.

REPAIRS MADE

Repairs were made and the machine went on to its destination at the Kennco Explorations camp at Lime Creek.

Aboard the craft when it disappeared Saturday were Pilot Greg Walker, about 30, of Burnaby, and mechanic Al Knudson, 23, of Kelsey Bay.

A limited search was started Sunday when it was first learned the craft had not reached its destination.

COPTERS IN SEARCH

A full search started Tuesday and three Okanagan Helicopters searched the Nass River area.

Company officials said the pilot and mechanic would be picked up by seaplane and flown to Vancouver. The location where the helicopter went down is not yet known.

Terrace is 95 miles east of Prince Rupert.

Bureau Chooses 500 Neediest

Welfare agencies in Greater Victoria join forces in an important facet of The Daily Colonist 500 Christmas Fund.

Actual selection of the 500 most needy families to receive money from the fund is made by the Christmas Bureau.

* * *

All other welfare agencies submit names from their files, and the final selection is made from these lists.

Donations to the fund may be mailed to The Daily Colonist, 2631 Douglas, or left at Acousticon of Victoria, 740 Yates Street, between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. weekdays and 9 to noon Saturdays.

Donations can be brought to the editorial offices 9 to 5 Monday through Friday.

The fund was boosted yesterday by a cheque for $100.

The donor simply said: "I wish to remain anonymous, but please add this to the 500 Fund."

This is the spirit that Victorians have shown in the past, and it has brought many a smile to the faces of thousands of youngsters who otherwise would have had little to smile about at a happy time of year.

* * *

The fund does not ask that you contribute, but provides an opportunity to help the 500 neediest families in this area.

Every cent added gives more assurance of a glow of warmth in the hearts of 500 families.

* * *

Toys can help the fund, too. Those attending the Victoria Kinsmen Christmas bingo, Dec. 3, who bring a toy to the arena, have a chance on a generous number of turkeys, and help swell the fund.

Toys will be auctioned at Maynard's annual toy auction later in December.

Jury Verdict

Father Slew In Rage

NANAIMO—A psychiatrist told a coroner's jury here last night a man who killed two of his children and himself last month, was disturbed but sane two weeks before the shooting.

The jury ruled Erling Salo killed his daughter Glenda, 13, and son Roy, 5, while in a disturbed state of mind Oct. 29.

UNSUCCESSFUL

A rider attached to the verdict stated the jury thought Salo's condition was due to unsuccessful attempts by him at a reconciliation with his estranged wife.

Dr. Joseph Boulding, a psychiatrist, said although Salo was in a disturbed state of mind at the time he was examined Oct. 15, he was "definitely sane."

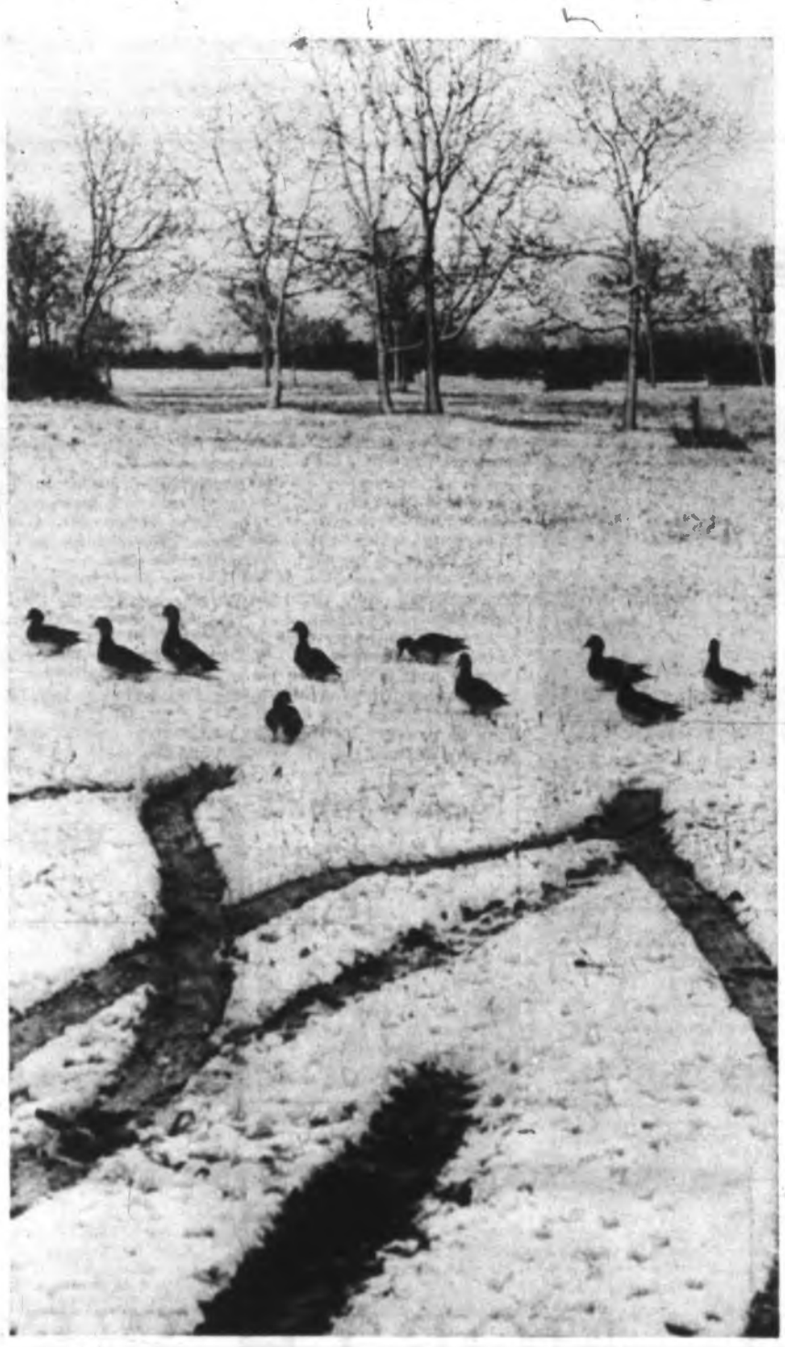
DISCUSS PROBLEMS

Dr. Boulding said both Mr. and Mrs. Salo asked for an appointment with him Oct. 12 to discuss their marriage problems.

Mrs. Salo later called and said she was not interested in a reconciliation so Salo went to him alone, the doctor testified.

Mrs. B. M. Martin, probation officer, said after Salo was given six months probation in August for an assault on his wife, she saw them both several times.

After an hour of deliberation, the jury brought in a verdict that the man committed suicide by shooting himself in the stomach and that he murdered the children in a rage and in a state of mental anguish.



Nanaimo to Protest

Boat Basin Project Scuttled by Ottawa

NANAIMO—The federal government has scuttled Nanaimo's small boat basin project after five years of work by city aldermen and other citizens, by removing the project from the 1964 estimates.

The funds required were about $750,000 and the project called for construction of a basin for commercial fishing boats and small pleasure craft.

City council unanimously supported motions by Ald. Bus MacDonald to write letters of protest to Prime Minister Pearson, Works Minister Jean-Paul Deschatelets and Northern Affairs Minister Art Laing in an effort to salvage the project.

MEETING CALLED

A second motion, also approved, calls for a meeting of all interested parties to map out salvage procedure.

Ald. Jack Parker said that Nanaimo's boat basin should receive priority over other federal projects if only because of seniority.

"Five years of effort on our part should establish some sort of priority," he said. "This would have meant a big new industry for Nanaimo."

Dobson

Duncan Mayor To Run Again

DUNCAN—The mayor of Duncan Tuesday announced he will seek re-election in the Dec. 5 municipal election.

Jack Dobson will end his 10th year on the council this December. For the past eight years he has been mayor.

He said, "There are a number of projects I want to see completed."

Also seeking re-election are Ald. Hamish Mutter, completing three years, and Jim Patterson ending his first two-year term on the council. So far no other candidates have been nominated.

Vessel Races 40 Miles To Save Burned Children

ALERT BAY (CP)—A hospital vessel raced 40 miles through darkness to save the lives of two survivors of a fire that killed three children.

The 66-foot Columbia Coast Mission vessel, Columbia, raced from Alert Bay, 400 miles north of Vancouver, to a remote Indian reserve to pick up two children.

Eric, Joanne and Corinna Smith—6, 3 and 2 respectively—died when fire destroyed their wooden frame house built on stilts on the banks of the Kingcome River Monday.

Wilma Smith, 5, and Clarence Moon, 10, were treated on the Columbia then flown to hospital here.

Members of the Tsawataineuk Indian band paddled dugout canoes to a small port where a radio message was sent to Alert Bay.

Capt. William Nicholson, of the Columbia, picked up a doctor and plasma and cast off.

Dr. Cezar Heine said he gave plasma to one of the children, who later died, and to Wilma.

City Should Buy It

Spare Key Building

If all else fails, the city should be willing to purchase the original Board of Trade building on Bastion Square, to save it from threatened demolition.

This was the consensus of aldermen during a discussion of the matter in committee yesterday.

City manager Dennis Young warned that without the building, which is shortly to be vacated by a cartage firm, the city "may as well eliminate all thought of rehabilitating Bastion Square."

REASON FOR OPTIMISM

Mr. Young reported, however, that there is reason for optimism concerning the future of the building completed in 1892, which he termed "key structure" in the city restoration plans for the historical area.

"I can't say any more at this time," the city manager said. "But there are very definite plans under way to save this building."

PRIVATE INTERESTS

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow said he would like to see private interests purchase the building rather than the city. But he added "as a last resource" it may be necessary for the city to step in and purchase the property.

Ald. Cecil Parrott said if the offer to purchase the building and tear it down to make room for a parking lot went through it would effectively kill any plans for restoring Bastion Square. "The loss would be irreparable," he said.

CAMPAIGN STUDIED

The committee authorized chairman Ald. A. W. Toone to get in touch with the Chamber of Commerce to learn if that group would spearhead a campaign to raise funds to purchase and rehabilitate the building.

It was suggested that the building interior could be renovated as offices for the Chamber itself and surplus space rented to community groups like the Junior Chamber of Commerce and others.

PERIOD RESTAURANT

The ground floor could be rented for something like a Gay 90's period restaurant.

The building was advertised for sale at $35,000.

If the city were to purchase it funds would probably come from the T. S. McPherson bequest which will yield an estimated $1,000,000 in 1967.

Market Nucleus

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow suggested yesterday that the city-owned former Duncan Storage building become the nucleus of a public market that would include some outdoor stalls on Bastion Square. He said a similar setup is to be found in many English market towns. The public market he envisioned would operate perhaps only day a week.

Pickings Slim

Group of ducks found slim pickings in Beacon Hill Park as first snow of season blanketed Victoria but they needn't worry. Weather office said last night rain would return by Thursday to wash away snow.—(W. A. Boucher.)

City's Cold Due To Snap Soon

Victoria's first cold snap of the season hit last night with temperatures dropping into the 20s.

But rain and warmer weather is predicted for Thursday.

Mostly sunny skies and a temperature of 35 is predicted for today.

"A few snowflurries are predicted for tonight but rain is expected early Thursday," said a weather office spokesman.

Tuesday's snowfall was mostly confined to Southern Vancouver Island.

SLIGHT UP-ISLAND

Duncan and Nanaimo areas reported a very slight smattering of snow.

Road sanding and salting operations were in full swing yesterday morning on the Trans Canada Highway.

Service stations reported a rush for anti-freeze.

Although streets in Victoria were covered with snow yesterday morning, fewer accidents than usual were reported.

The change in weather brought Victorians relief from the almost constant rain during November — 17 of the first 18 days of the month.

Sunshine during November is running about 10 hours short of the normal.

The snowfall apparently claimed only one victim — a woman who went out her back door to look at it and slipped on the porch.

Mrs. Mika Prus, 1419 Haultain, fell on the steps, breaking her leg. She was reported in good condition in Royal Jubilee Hospital.

12,891 Given New Vaccine

To date, 12,891 persons have received free Sabin polio vaccine doses in the Greater Victoria area.

Today's clinics are at 1947 Cook, Victoria; 2167 Oak Bay Ave., Oak Bay; 780 Vernon, Saanich and 800 Goldstream, Langford. All clinics will be open from 2 to 4 p.m.

Land

Varsity Plan Soon

The draft of a development plan for land around the University of Victoria is nearly complete, Saanich planner Antony Parr told lands and planning committee last night.

The over-all plan includes "everything in Saanich east of Blenkinsop Road, and parts of Victoria and Oak Bay," he said.

Mr. Parr recommended that ratepayer associations, the university development board and city and Oak Bay councils be asked their opinions of the plan.

Committee decided to have a look at the draft plan before submitting it to the other groups, and called for the final plan to be brought back after it is modified with their views.

Apartment Plan Opposed By Homeowners

DUNCAN—Apartment houses in the Centennial Heights subdivision are out as far as the 25 homeowners in that area are concerned.

Staging a strong protest at a public hearing at the city hall Monday night, they came in full force to tell the city council they want to protect their valuable homes in a housing development which originally was designed for single family dwellings.

Council at a previous meeting had given two readings to the amendment of the zoning bylaw which, if passed, would make construction of two apartment houses possible.

INTEREST DENIED

During the public hearing council was asked if it had any gainful interest in construction of the apartment houses and except for one, Ald. Jim Patterson who is a contractor, all other council members denied.

Ald. Patterson said as a contractor he would have the right to obtain the four lots necessary to built his 25-unit apartment from Central Mortgage and Housing, and to build if his application is passed by the council.

ASKS NO FAVORS

He said, "I do not ask for any favors." The other apartment house, to contain 33 units, would be built by a Vancouver enterprise.

Homeowners from the Centennial Heights subdivision unanimously agreed construction of apartment houses would destroy the image of Duncan's most attractive residential area.

Their strongest objection was assisted by a former promise by Central Mortgage and Housing that the area of the subdivision would be exclusively for family homes of high standard.

CMHA STAND

A spokesman for Central Mortgage and Housing from Victoria, C. J. Dowling said: "We did not realize that it (the apartment) would be opposed that strongly."

Another request of local builder Paul Gerst to construct a fourplex structure on Brownsey Ave. Also was opposed for similar reasons.

This building, however, is not situated in the Centennial Heights subdivision.

NO OBJECTION

No objection was voiced to rezoning of a piece of land at Cairnsmore and Cavell Streets for apartment house use, or to rezoning of the area in the vicinity of the newly planned government building for public use only.

Council promised to study the objection of the homeowners very carefully before making final decision in the near future.

Schools to Benefit In Qualicum Beach

QUALICUM BEACH — New classrooms and improved school facilities are in store for schools here, following passage by property owners of a $317,810 school loan bylaw.

The bylaw for School District 69 required a 60 per cent majority for passage; it was given 63 per cent of the vote.

A steady growth in school population in the past ten years, and an expected acceleration of growth in the future, together with substandard accommodation in some schools, and the need for improved facilities in others, made the referendum necessary.

Attendance zones which will benefit from the favorable outcome are: Nanoose, Parksville, Errington, Coombs, Hilliers, Qualicum Beach, Little Qualicum, Horne Lake and Bowser.

Youbou Boy Hurt In Cycle Crash

LAKE COWICHAN—Six-year-old Timmy Sampson, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Sampson of Youbou is reported in good condition at King's Daughters' Hospital, Duncan, with a broken leg and head lacerations. While riding his bicycle he collided with a pickup truck during the weekend near his home.

Driver of the truck, Eugene Delbert Maki of Youbou, was driving along Youbou Road on his way to work, when the boy struck the truck's front fender, and was hurled about 50 feet, police said.

Inquest Set Nov. 26 Into Girl's Death

NANAIMO — Inquest into the death of Nina Maurer, 5, who was killed when she ran into the side of a truck Monday, has been adjourned until Nov. 26.

Nina, who died shortly after being taken to hospital is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frohwald D. Maurer, 1110 Woodhouse Street. The Maurers have two other children, Thomas and Arnold Peter.

Driver of the truck was John H. Bigga who swerved up onto the sidewalk to try to avoid hitting the child.

It was Nanaimo's first traffic fatality for 1963.

Evangelist in Schools

Grumbles But No Protest

There has been "some grumbling" but no formal protests so far concerning addresses by evangelist Barry Moore to students in certain local secondary schools, a Greater Victoria school board spokesman said yesterday.

Board chairman Mrs. A. B. Thompson said school officials were approached by a local minister last summer on behalf of the Crusade for Christ and were told Mr. Moore would speak "not on religion but on good living."

The ruling by school superintendent John Gough was that principals of individual schools could, at their discretion, allow the talks to their own students, the chairman said.

It appears that a small number of teachers, for reasons that are still not clear, objected to Mr. Moore's appearances at Mount Douglas High School and Colquitz Junior High School.

Mrs. Thompson said she learned of this when approached by a teacher "right in the middle" of salary negotiations just completed.

"I asked the teacher to send the board a letter stating his objections but so far have not received any communication on this matter," she said.

Mrs. Thompson said the board itself has no reason to be concerned about the appearance of Mr. Moore in "one or two" schools recently, but she added that trustees would investigate any complaints.

Earlier, the board chairman said she wholeheartedly agreed with Wilfred Peck, provincial adviser to trustees in 1963-64 salary negotiations with teachers, that the only way to bargain sensibly is on a provincial level rather than district by district.

"As trustees we are not qualified to decide on salary increases," Mrs. Thompson said. "We don't know whether a teacher merits an increase. There are 922 of them and we can't go over the record of each.

"Some would merit increases, some wouldn't, even though I think we do have a wonderful group of teachers on the whole in Greater Victoria."

She didn't think the loss of local autonomy by having a professional bargaining agent would be alarming to ratepayers.

Space Big Problem For Team Awards

NANAIMO — City of Nanaimo plans to present medallions to members of local teams winning B.C. championships in 1962.

It is hoped to present them at the next city council meeting, Dec. 2. Ald. Bus MacDonald and Bill McGregor are making the arrangements but their problem is that the council chamber is not big enough to accommodate all the members of the 11 qualifying teams.

Consideration is being given to confining the presentation to team captains and coaches.

Ald. MacDonald would like to see some arrangement that would allow the mayor to congratulate each member personally.

NANAIMO—Conciliation in the salaries dispute between District 68 school board and teachers having failed, the dispute now goes to arbitration.

Salary talks which have been going on since September, reached a deadlock and went before conciliators Gordon Bush, for the teachers, and Ted Barsby, for the school board. Deadline for these talks was Nov. 15, at which time no decision had been reached.

NANAIMO—Voters' list for the 1963 civic elections totals 6,305 eligible voters, Miss Cathy Waugh, returning officer for Nanaimo reports.

Voters must be British subjects, over 21 years old, property owners or registered tenants or resident electors. Resident electors may vote for mayor, aldermen and school trustees but not on money by-laws or referendums.

DUNCAN — A. A. M. Stewart is the new commodore of the Maple Bay Yacht Club. He was elected Monday night and succeeds Van T. Shindler.

The slate of officers consists of Jim Hirst, vice-commodore; Vic Palmer, rear commodore; Dave Thomas, fleet captain, and Dr. O. Qualley, staff captain.

The board of executive includes Alan Bigelow, Mrs. F. Clark, D. A. Gillard, E. T. Guest and A. K. Sheridan. John Roome is honorary secretary and Ormond Springford, honorary treasurer.

Not What They Seem

No, Chumleigh, Nanaimo has not been taken over by tribe of short, thin Indians. Teepees above by Trans-Canada Highway just north of George Pearson bridge weren't put up either just for amusement of youngsters like Ruth Flett, Jingle Pott Road, seen peeking around second one. They are actually "winter woollies" to protect from winter's chill two palm trees donated to Nanaimo by realtor Frank Ney. —(Agnes M. Flett)

Young Carpenters Face Test of Skills

NANAIMO—Nanaimo will be the scene of a carpentry competition to be held on March 21, 1964 under the sponsorship of the Vancouver Island Council of Carpenters.

Carpenter construction apprentices and millwork apprentices from all over the Island will compete.

Winners of the various classes will represent the Island at the provincial contest to be held in Vancouver at a later date and the B.C. winners will then represent the province in an international contest to be held in California in July.

The majority of the carpenter apprentices in the Nanaimo area are graduates of the Grade 12 general course who have selected carpentry as a trade. They are indentured to either the contractor or the union and during their four-year training they may attend school in Vancouver for one month of each year to take courses on transit, level, blueprint reading, layout work and other phases of construction.

Harbor Plans Studied

NANAIMO—Nanaimo's Local Council of Women, concerned about the future of the city's waterfront, heard a reply from minister of recreation and conservation Earle C. Westwood about future plans for the city's harbor.

The letter told the council that he had been in touch with lands minister Ralph Williston and had forwarded a plan showing the proposed development. He suggested that they contact Harbormaster John Dunham for further details.

At city council Monday, council said that the council of women will be told that the harbor commission and the city will be meeting shortly to consider the development and improvement of Nanaimo's waterfront.

Veterans' Sons Invited

DUNCAN — "We are anxious that all sons of deceased or disabled vetefans will attend our father and son banquet this Thursday at the Legion Hall at 7 p.m." said Ray Topliss, spokesman for the Cowichan branch, Royal Canadian Legion.

The youngsters will be sponsored by appointed legionnaires. The first father and son banquet in the history of the Cowichan branch is planned to be made an annual event, Mr. Topliss said.

Highlight of this Thursday's affair will be a variety show.

Decorations Up Nov. 28

NANAIMO — Nanaimo's Christmas street decorations are to be put up Nov. 28. Decorations will span Commercial, Church, Front and Bastion as in other years but this year the Bastion Street decorations will be illuminated.

Early-Day Baker Dies

NANAIMO—A man who had been a resident of Nanaimo for 75 of his 79 years, died in Nanaimo Regional Hospital Monday.

Frederick Jarvis Rowbottom, was born in Yorkshire, England and was brought here at the age of four.

Mr. Rowbottom was a baker by trade and operated a family business at the corner of Milton and Fitzwilliam Streets for many years.

He is survived by his wife Mary D. (Polly); two brothers, Francis, Nanaimo, and Herbert, Sydney; a sister, Mrs. Kate Promes, Seattle; two daughters, Mrs. William Court, Victoria, and Mrs. Archie Aitken, Shawnigan Lake, and a son, Telford McEwan, of Ventura, California.

Cambodia

Prince Slaps U.S.

PHNOM PENH (AP)—Prince Norodom Sihanouk, ruler of Cambodia, Tuesday severed all economic and military ties with the United States.

Sihanouk charged that U.S. aid was being used to undermine him.

He announced his decision in a fiery speech before an emergency session of his political party at a Phnom Penh stadium.

CHEERING CROWD

He told a wildly cheering crowd of Youth Corps members that American equipment had been used by rebel Cambodians operating from South Viet Nam.

The U.S. embassy said it had received no official text of the prince's denunciation, nor had the embassy been formally notified of any change in relations with Cambodia. It was expected such notification might come today.

TRAGIC IF TRUE

An American spokesman described the development as "tragic, if it is true."

U.S. aid to Cambodia averages about $30,000,000 a year, which is about the same figure as the national yearly deficit. Funds generated by the American commercial import program in Cambodia pay for about 40 per cent of the upkeep of the nation's small armed forces.

TO MAINTAIN TIES

Sihanouk said that while he would stop receiving any form of American assistance, he planned to maintain diplomatic ties with the United States.

There are currently about 300 Americans in official capacities in this nation of 6,000,000 inhabitants, including about 65 officers and men of the U.S. armed forces.

The cut would reduce the

And Valery Makes Three

KATMANDU, Nepal (Reuters)—Honeymooning Russian space couple Valentina Tereshkova and Major Andrian Nikolayev arrived here from Calcutta Tuesday for a two-day visit to Nepal. A third cosmonaut, Col. Valery Bykovsky, flew with them to this Himalayan land.

Heart Seizure Kills Puck-Chasing Mayor

TORONTO (CP)—Mayor Donald Summerville of Toronto died Tuesday night after suffering a heart attack while playing goal in an exhibition hockey game. Mr. Summerville, 48, collapsed in the dressing room of George Bell Arena after skating from a pile-up in front of his net in the first few minutes of the game.

With Mr. Summerville when he collapsed were Alderman Mike Grayson and James Vipond, sports editor of the Globe and Mail.

"I'M ALL RIGHT"

"I'm all right . . . I'm all right," he told them, but he then pitched forward on his face.

The fire department was called and an inhalator was applied to the mayor. An ambulance arrived a few minutes later and took him, unconscious, to St. Joseph's Hospital, where he died shortly after.

FLOOD RELIEF AID

The hockey game pitted city council members against a press, radio and television team. It was to raise funds for the Toronto Italian flood relief fund.

Mr. Summerville, a former reserve goalie for Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League, arrived at the arena after attending a long meeting of the Metropolitan Toronto council.

About 1,200 spectators in the arena saw the mayor skate off the ice after the goalmouth pileup but did not realize he suffered the heart attack later. The game was completed.

Mr. Summerville was elected mayor of Toronto in December, 1962, ousting Nathan Phillips.

Didn't Have Authority

Strapping Teacher Fined

KAMLOOPS (CP)—North Kamloops school teacher charged with assaulting a student with the strap was found guilty and fined $25 by Magistrate D. M. MacDonald Monday.

The decision ends a trial which has spread out over almost a month. It ended Nov. 2 and was adjourned until Monday for the magistrate's decision.

Bryan Kirwan, a teacher at George Hilliard Elementary School, was charged with assault causing bodily harm after strapping 12-year-old Tommy Goodwin on the last day of school in June.

FATHER LAID CHARGE

The charges were laid by the boy's father, T. B. Goodwin of Brocklehurst. He said the boy's hands were black and blue following the strapping.

Magistrate MacDonald said the punishment was reasonable but that Kirwan had no authority to take the boy back to school after he had been dismissed and had gone home.

The Goodwin boy was strapped after letting the air out of Mr. Kirwan's tires after being dismissed from school June 27. He also smeared toothpaste on the car windshield.

Mr. Kirwan went to the boy's home to ask his parents permission to take Tommy back to school. Mr. and Mrs. Goodwin were not home but he told the boy to come with him and clean up the mess.

STRAPPED 15 TIMES

After the boy cleaned the car, Mr. Kirwan strapped him 15 times—six on one hand and nine on the other—and sent him home.

DESERVED IT

"There is no question in my mind that this boy was certainly deserving punishment," Magistrate MacDonald said "... and I am not satisfied beyond a reasonable doubt that the teacher did in fact use excessive force." But Mr. Kirwan had to have the authority to strap the boy, the magistrate said.

Judge Fined For Slapping

KASSON, Minn. (AP)—Juvenile court Judge L. A. Paulsrude got a sentence of a $50 fine or 10 days in jail Tuesday for slapping an 11-year-old girl who illegally set off firecrackers in the street.

Paulsrude told bystanders at the time of the incident he was punishing Jenny for breaking the law and was holding court in the street.

REIGN OF TERROR HITS VENEZUELA

CARACAS (UPI)—The Pro-Castro Armed Forces of National Liberation launched a reign of terror in the streets of the Venezuelan capital city Tuesday and at least 19 persons were killed in a series of gun battles, bombings and fires.

Seventy persons were injured.

It was the worst day of bloodshed since the underground FALN began its campaign of anti-government terror two years ago.

The Caracas violence was designed to back up the FALN's call for a nationwide general strike and to disrupt elections scheduled for Dec. 1.

150 ARRESTED

Venezuelan national guardsmen arrested more than 150 members of the FALN and the strike appeal appeared to fall flat. Organized labor ignored it.

In a naked show of violence, the FALN used strongarm tactics in trying to bully workers into staying away from their jobs. Terrorists resorted to bullets, bombs and burnings but it was business as usual in most sections of the city.

VIOLENCE SPORADIC

Violence was sporadic and largely confined to the poorer sections of Caracas. Small shopkeepers in the slum areas received personal visits from terrorists Monday warning them their shops would be put to the torch if they opened Tuesday.

Police were placed on full alert and military patrols walked the streets. In the federal district alone, 7,300 police patrolled the city "which was marked out in 42 zones.

CRUDE PLAN

Authorities denounced the terrorist strike call as a crude Communist manoeuvre to block the Dec. 1 elections. Navy units originally scheduled to participate in joint exercises off the Colombian coast cancelled the operation and patrolled the Venezuelan coast to prevent any Castro aid reaching the terrorists.

The massive confederation of labor, which supports the government, ordered its members to ignore the strike call.

Hundreds Perish

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP)—The public health department said Tuesday about 500 persons have been killed since last Thursday by floods and landslides.

It said thousands were homeless and estimated damage in the millions of dollars.

Storms

10 British Counties Swamped

LONDON (AP)—Gale-driven rainstorms swamped 10 countries in England and Wales Tuesday, flooding thousands of acres of farmlands and blocking major highways.

Storms that ravaged the country during the last 48 hours moderated inland, but still battered coastal areas of Britain and parts of the European continent.

Worst hit were the southern counties of England, notably Sussex and Kent.

GENERAL ALARM

Authorities called a general alarm in west Sussex as rivers broke their banks, spilled across farmlands and flooded roads.

Storm tides smashed down sea walls along the Sussex coast. Bulldozers were brought in to rebuild the crumbling walls.

Gale winds buffeted shipping in the English Channel.

Du Pont Stores Put to Torch

MARACAIBO, Venezuela (UPI) — The big du Pont paint warehouse here was burned Tuesday when a group of unidentified terrorists threw a fire bomb into it. There were no injuries.

Paper Thrust Into Hands —Then Arrest

WASHINGTON (AP) — Professor Frederick C. Barghoorn of Yale University said Tuesday night he was seized by Soviet security men after an unidentified young man thrust a roll of papers into his hands in front of a Moscow hotel.

The professor, disclosing to reporters the details of his 16-day confinement by the Russians, declined to charge that he was deliberately "framed" on spy charges.

But his account given at the state department pointed in that direction.

MANY PROTESTS

The 52-year-old Barghoorn was finally freed Saturday after the U.S. government made many protests and President Kennedy publicly denied the professor was a spy.

Barghoorn talkd with high state department officials for more than five hours before he met with reporters.

He gave this account of his sudden imprisonment after a month in the Soviet Union gathering material for a book:

NIGHT BEFORE

At about 7:25 p.m. on Oct. 31, the night before he planned to leave for Warsaw, Barghoorn was about to enter his hotel when "a youngish looking man" approached him.

The man was a stranger, as far as Barghoorn can recall.

Acquitted

Jury of 11 men and one woman last night acquitted former fashion model Mrs. Barbara Clow, 37, on a charge of stealing $228,000 from Billings Motors in Brockville, Ont., where she was accountant from 1958 to 1962. She testified she was the mistress of owner Murray Billings, who showered her with gifts.

BRITAIN TODAY

Housing Situation Sparks Discontent

By KEN MacTAGGART

(Third of a Series)

LONDON — There are 14,600,000 "homes" in Britain. They are occupied by 14,700,000 "households" because about 100,000 families are doubled up with others.

This is a big improvement over 12 years ago when census showed more than 1,000,000 doubled-up households.

Nearly half of the dwellings were built before the First World War. Half of these were built before 1875, and more than half of the rest before 1850.

More than 80 per cent of 7,000,000 old houses and flats are owned by landlords; about 975,000 are classified as slums, though trade union officials say the ratio ought to be much higher because lack of a bath, hot water or a flush toilet is not a criterion of a slum.

Discontent with affairs in Britain obviously flows from homes such as these.

Improved Areas

But even greater discontent appears to come from areas where better housing has been provided.

During the Attlee (Labor) regime of 1945-51, 979,869 new housing units were built. Most were "local authority," dwellings subsidized by the government and built under local council direction.

Since the Conservative government took office in 1951, another 3,256,290 units have been built, 1,930,204 of which are subsidized. This is an average of more than 300,000 new

Battery Troubles

Copter Crew Found Safe

TERRACE, (CP) — A helicopter missing for three days near here was found Tuesday and after repairs continued to its destination at Alice Arm, 70 miles northwest of this community.

The Hiller 12E machine owned by Okanagan Helicopters Ltd. was forced down by battery trouble and was located by another company helicopter.

REPAIRS MADE

Repairs were made and the machine went on to its destination at the Kennco Explorations camp at Lime Creek.

Aboard the craft when it disappeared Saturday were Pilot Greg Walker, about 30, of Burnaby, and mechanic Al Knudson, 23, of Kelsey Bay.

A limited search was started Sunday when it was first learned the craft had not reached its destination.

COPTERS IN SEARCH

A full search started Tuesday and three Okanagan Helicopters searched the Nass River area.

Company officials said the pilot and mechanic would be picked up by seaplane and flown to Vancouver. The location where the helicopter went down is not yet known.

Terrace is 95 miles east of Prince Rupert.

Bureau Chooses 500 Neediest

Welfare agencies in Greater Victoria join forces in an important facet of The Daily Colonist 500 Christmas Fund.

Actual selection of the 500 most needy families to receive money from the fund is made by the Christmas Bureau.

All other welfare agencies submit names from their files, and the final selection is made from these lists.

Donations to the fund may be mailed to The Daily Colonist, 2631 Douglas, or left at Acousticon of Victoria, 740 Yates Street, between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. weekdays and 9 to noon Saturdays.

Donations can be brought to the editorial offices 9 to 5 Monday through Friday.

The fund was boosted yesterday by a cheque for $100.

The donor simply said: "I wish to remain anonymous, but please add this to the 500 Fund."

This is the spirit that Victorians have shown in the past, and it has brought many a smile to the faces of thousands of youngsters who otherwise would have had little to smile about at a happy time of year.

The fund does not ask that you contribute, but provides an opportunity to help the 500 neediest families in this area.

Every cent added gives more assurance of a glow of warmth in the hearts of 500 families.

Toys can help the fund, too. Those attending the Victoria Kinsmen Christmas bingo, Dec. 3, who bring a toy to the arena, have a chance on a generous number of turkeys, and help swell the fund.

Toys will be auctioned at Maynard's annual toy auction later in December.
